AURORA

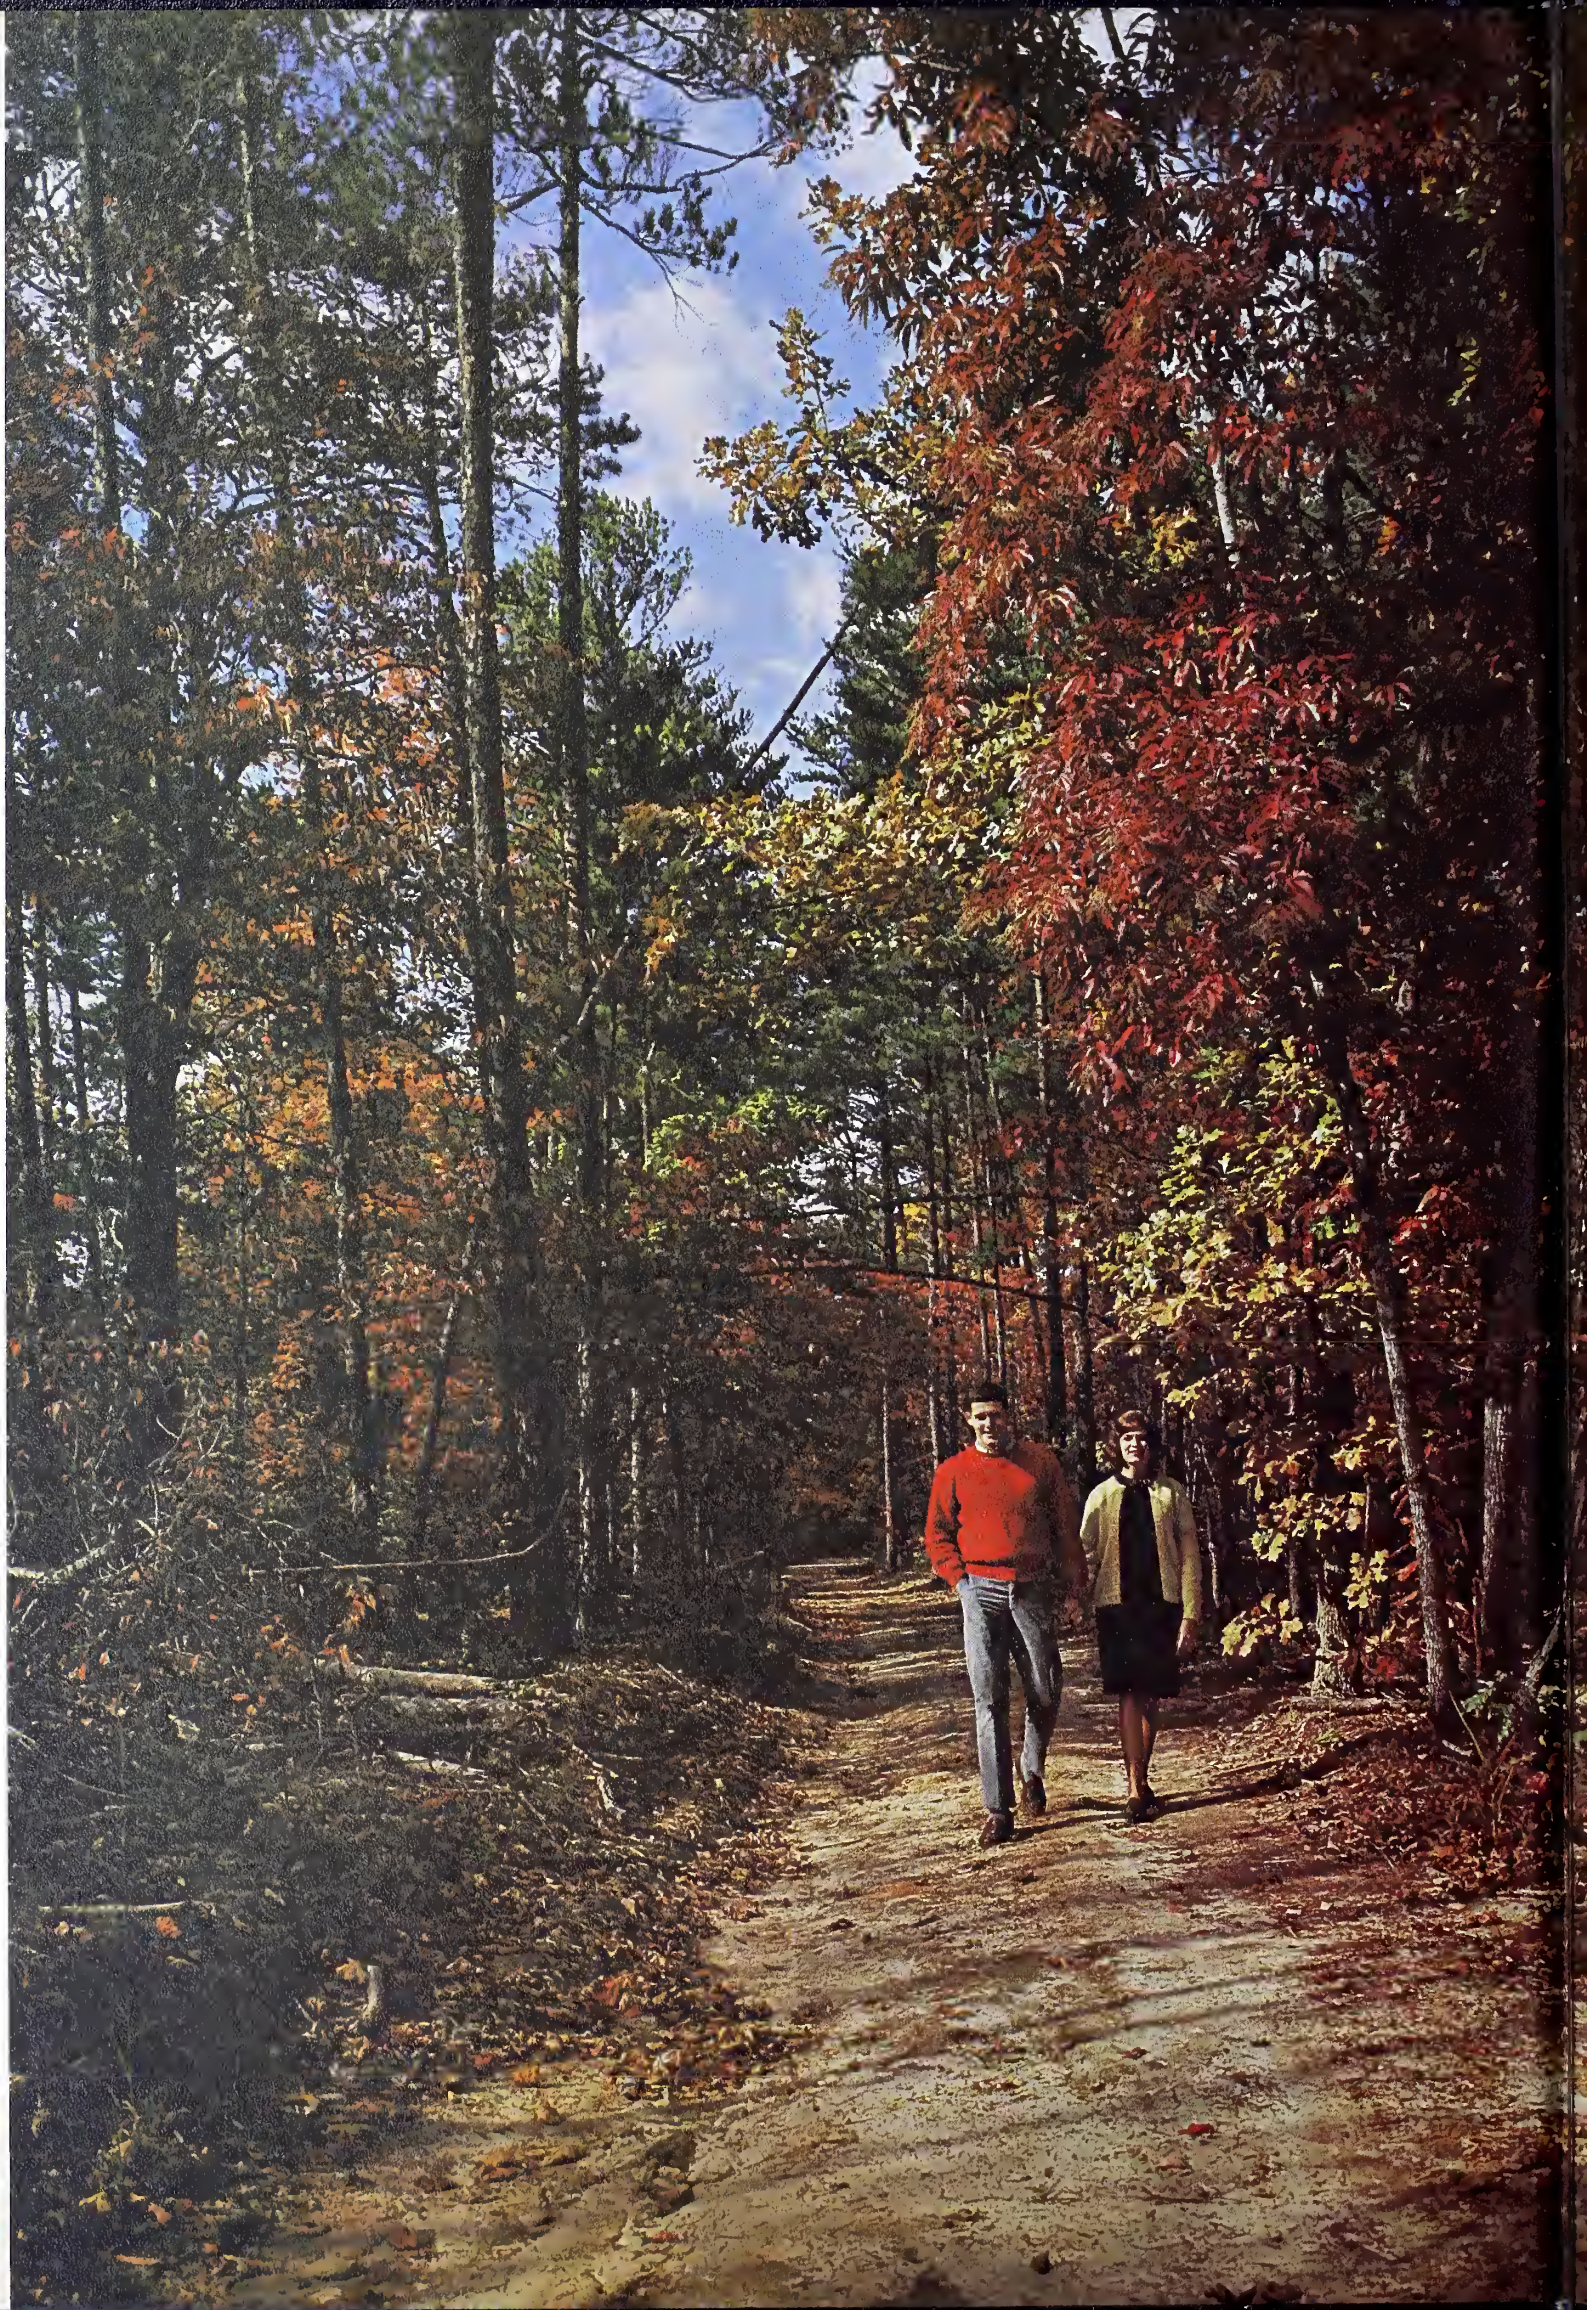

North Greenville
Junior College

Tigerville, South Carolina

Aurora

NGC

JR.

North Greenville is . . .

. . . a junior college located in the picturesque Blue Ridge Mountains . . . a tradition in itself . . . people, places, times . . . all a part of the tradition.

. . . the loyal students, the dedicated faculty, the untiring administration, the faithful trustees, the cooperative state Baptist Convention.

. . . the mosaic mural, depicting the school's history . . . the sundial, counting none but sunny hours . . . Glassy Mountain, changing dress seasonally . . . Baldy, challenging afternoon hikers . . . a swim at the college lake . . . the thrill of the winning team . . . raising "Old Glory" . . . cramming for exams . . . writing term papers . . . caroling . . . voting . . . listening . . . doing . . . dreaming.

. . . deeds and dreams, facts and friendships, pageants and people, monuments and . . . MEMORIES.

N.G. is . . .

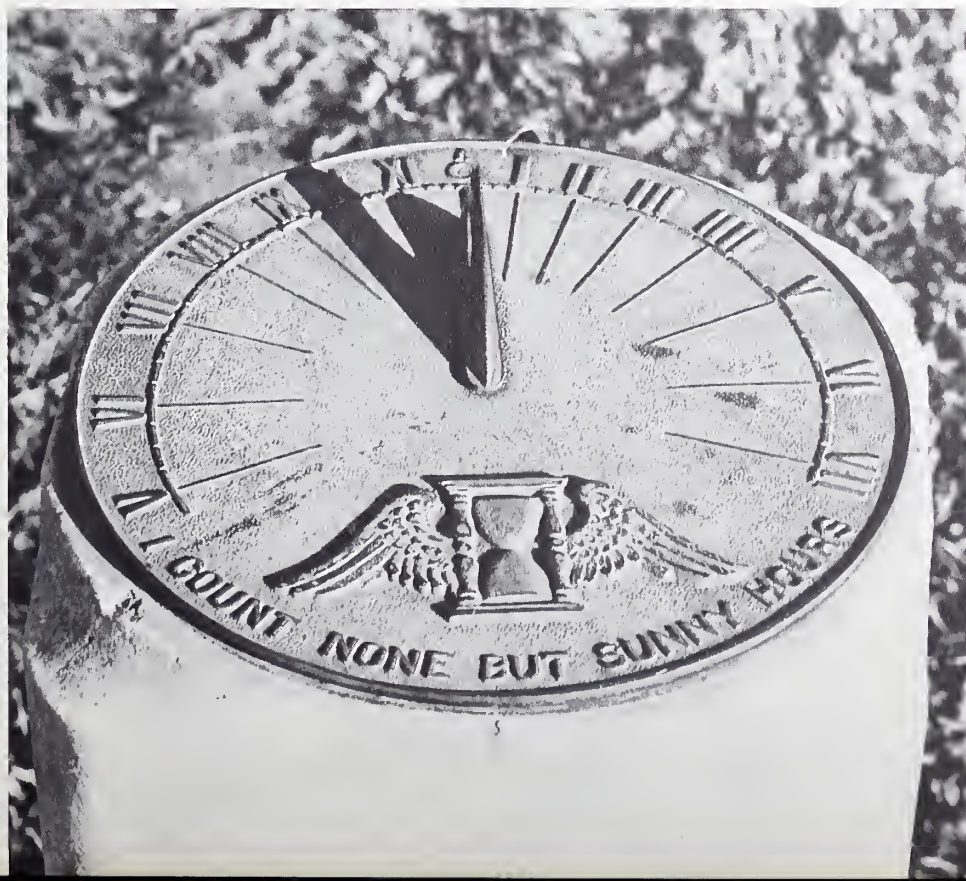

School Spirit

It is a freshman in a red and black beanie . . . a sophomore painting a "Welcome Freshman" sign . . .

It is students clapping hands to the rhythm of the Campus Beatles . . . clapping hands to the tune of a Mountie Victory . . .

It is the spirit of the group participating . . . with the old "f-i-g-h-t" . . . in clubs, sports, music . . . it is the spirit of the individual giving and receiving kindness and consideration.

It is the sharing of common ideals and goals for glory of school, country, others and self.

N.G. IS . . .

Understanding

"To know a person is to love them."

Woodrow Wilson

It is the small college where student, faculty and administration know each other personally.

It is the dean who disciplines to strengthen character . . .

the professor who listens . . . advises . . . helps . . .

that special friend down the hall . . .

It is the closeness of roommates and suitemates.

N.G. is . . .

Friendship

It is the student-friend, the teacher-friend . . . sharing joys, sharing sorrows . . .

It is burning the midnight oil together . . . helping "roomie" pass English . . . sharing a care package from home . . . initiating a new EQV member . . .

water fights in the dorm . . .

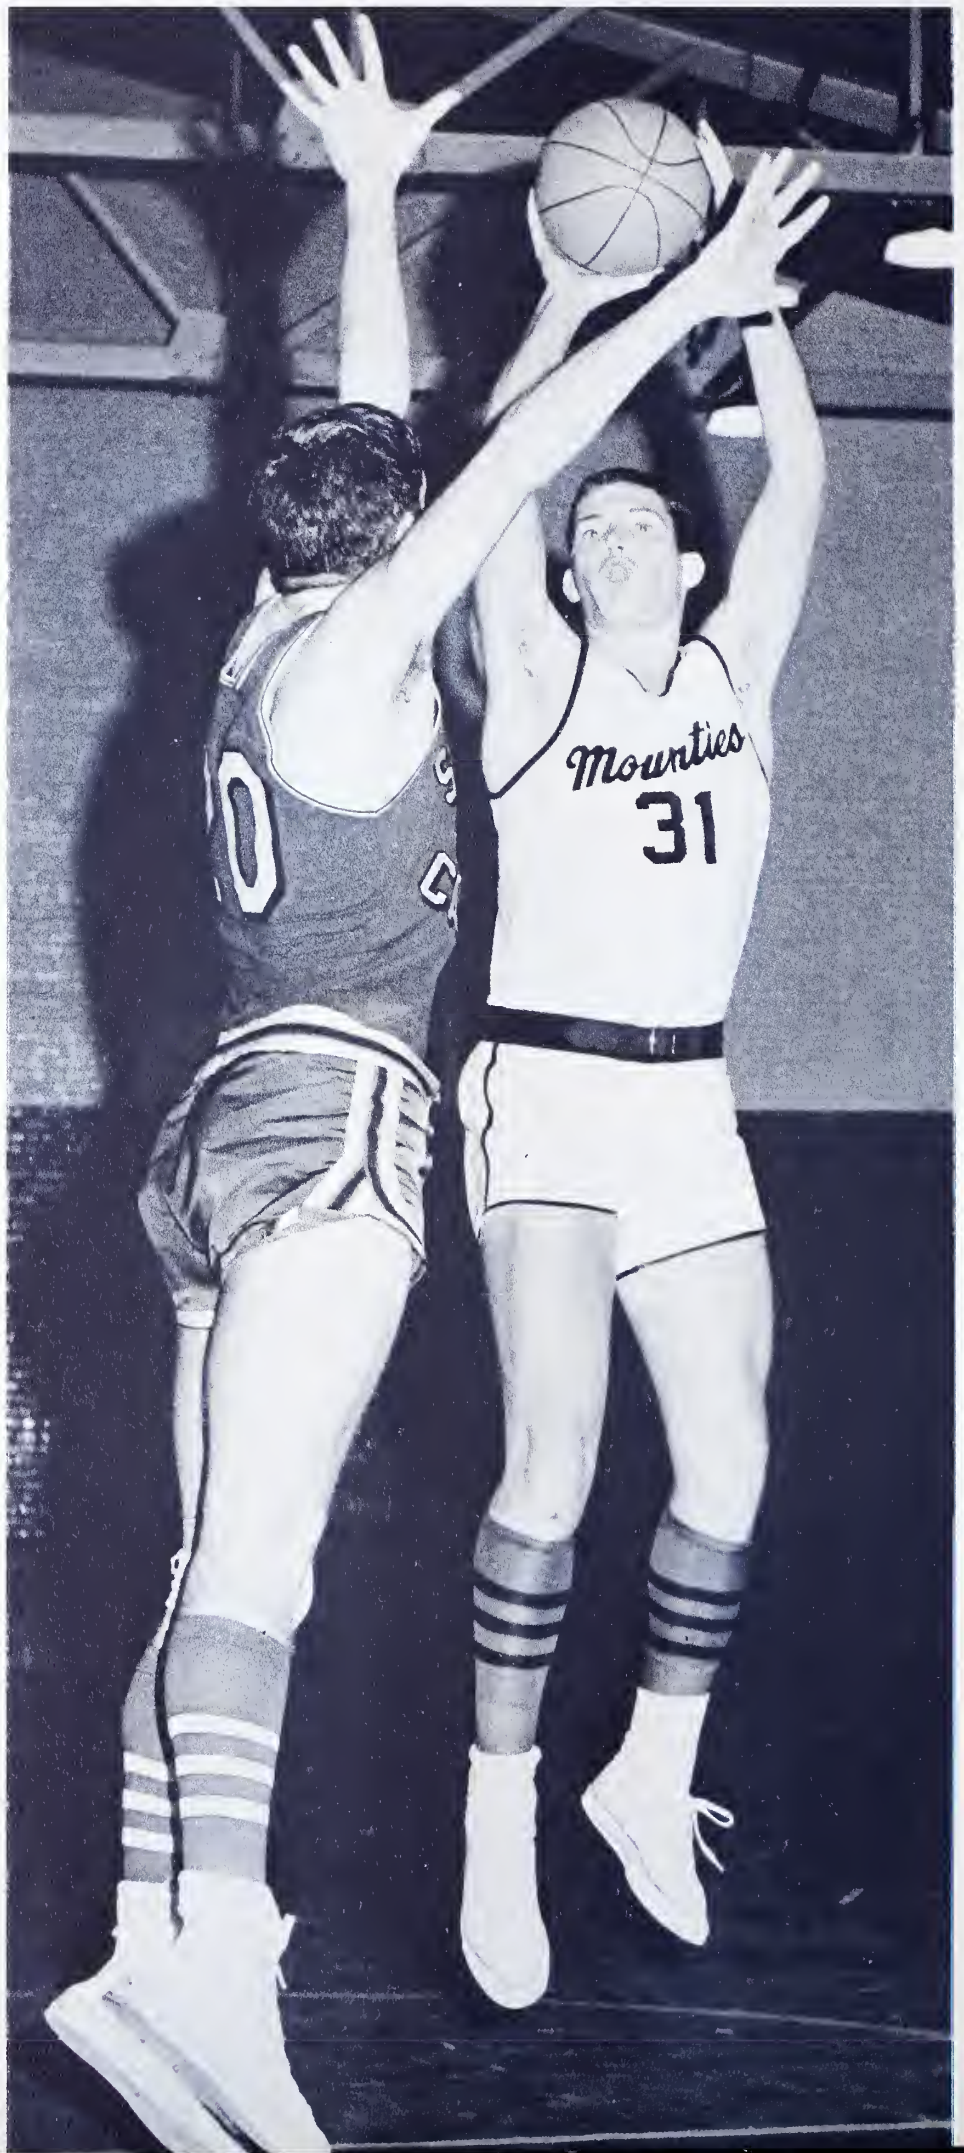

ping-pong in the canteen . . .

cokes in the Varsity . . .

It is an old friendship from home, a new friendship from Thailand . . . it knows no stranger . . . it is a greeting, a reception for student, for visitor.

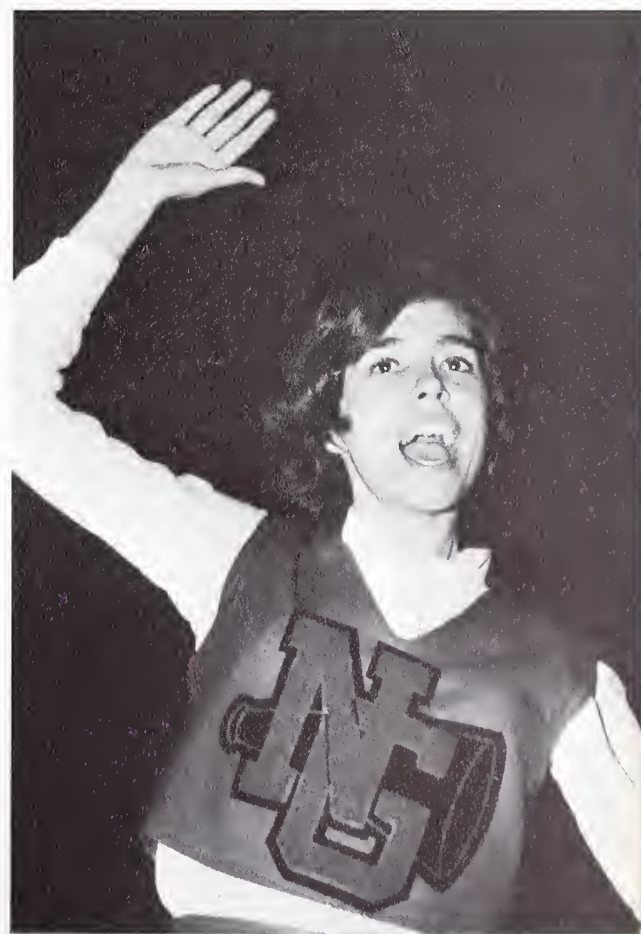

N.G. is . . .

Sportsmanship

It is fair play, win or lose . . . it is accepting the final decision with dignity.

It is fairness, generosity, courtesy on the court, in the field, to the opponent . . . the classmate opponent, the rival school opponent.

N.G. IS . . . Knowledge

For some . . .

It is a preparation, a stepping-stone to higher education . . . courses in science, music, mathematics, English, foreign languages . . .

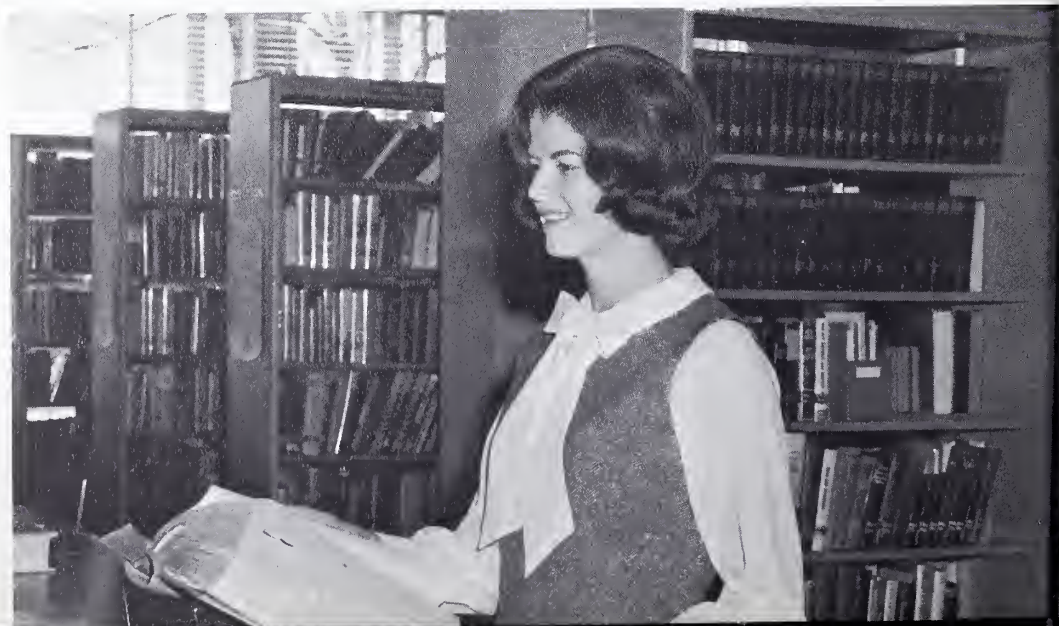

For Others . . .

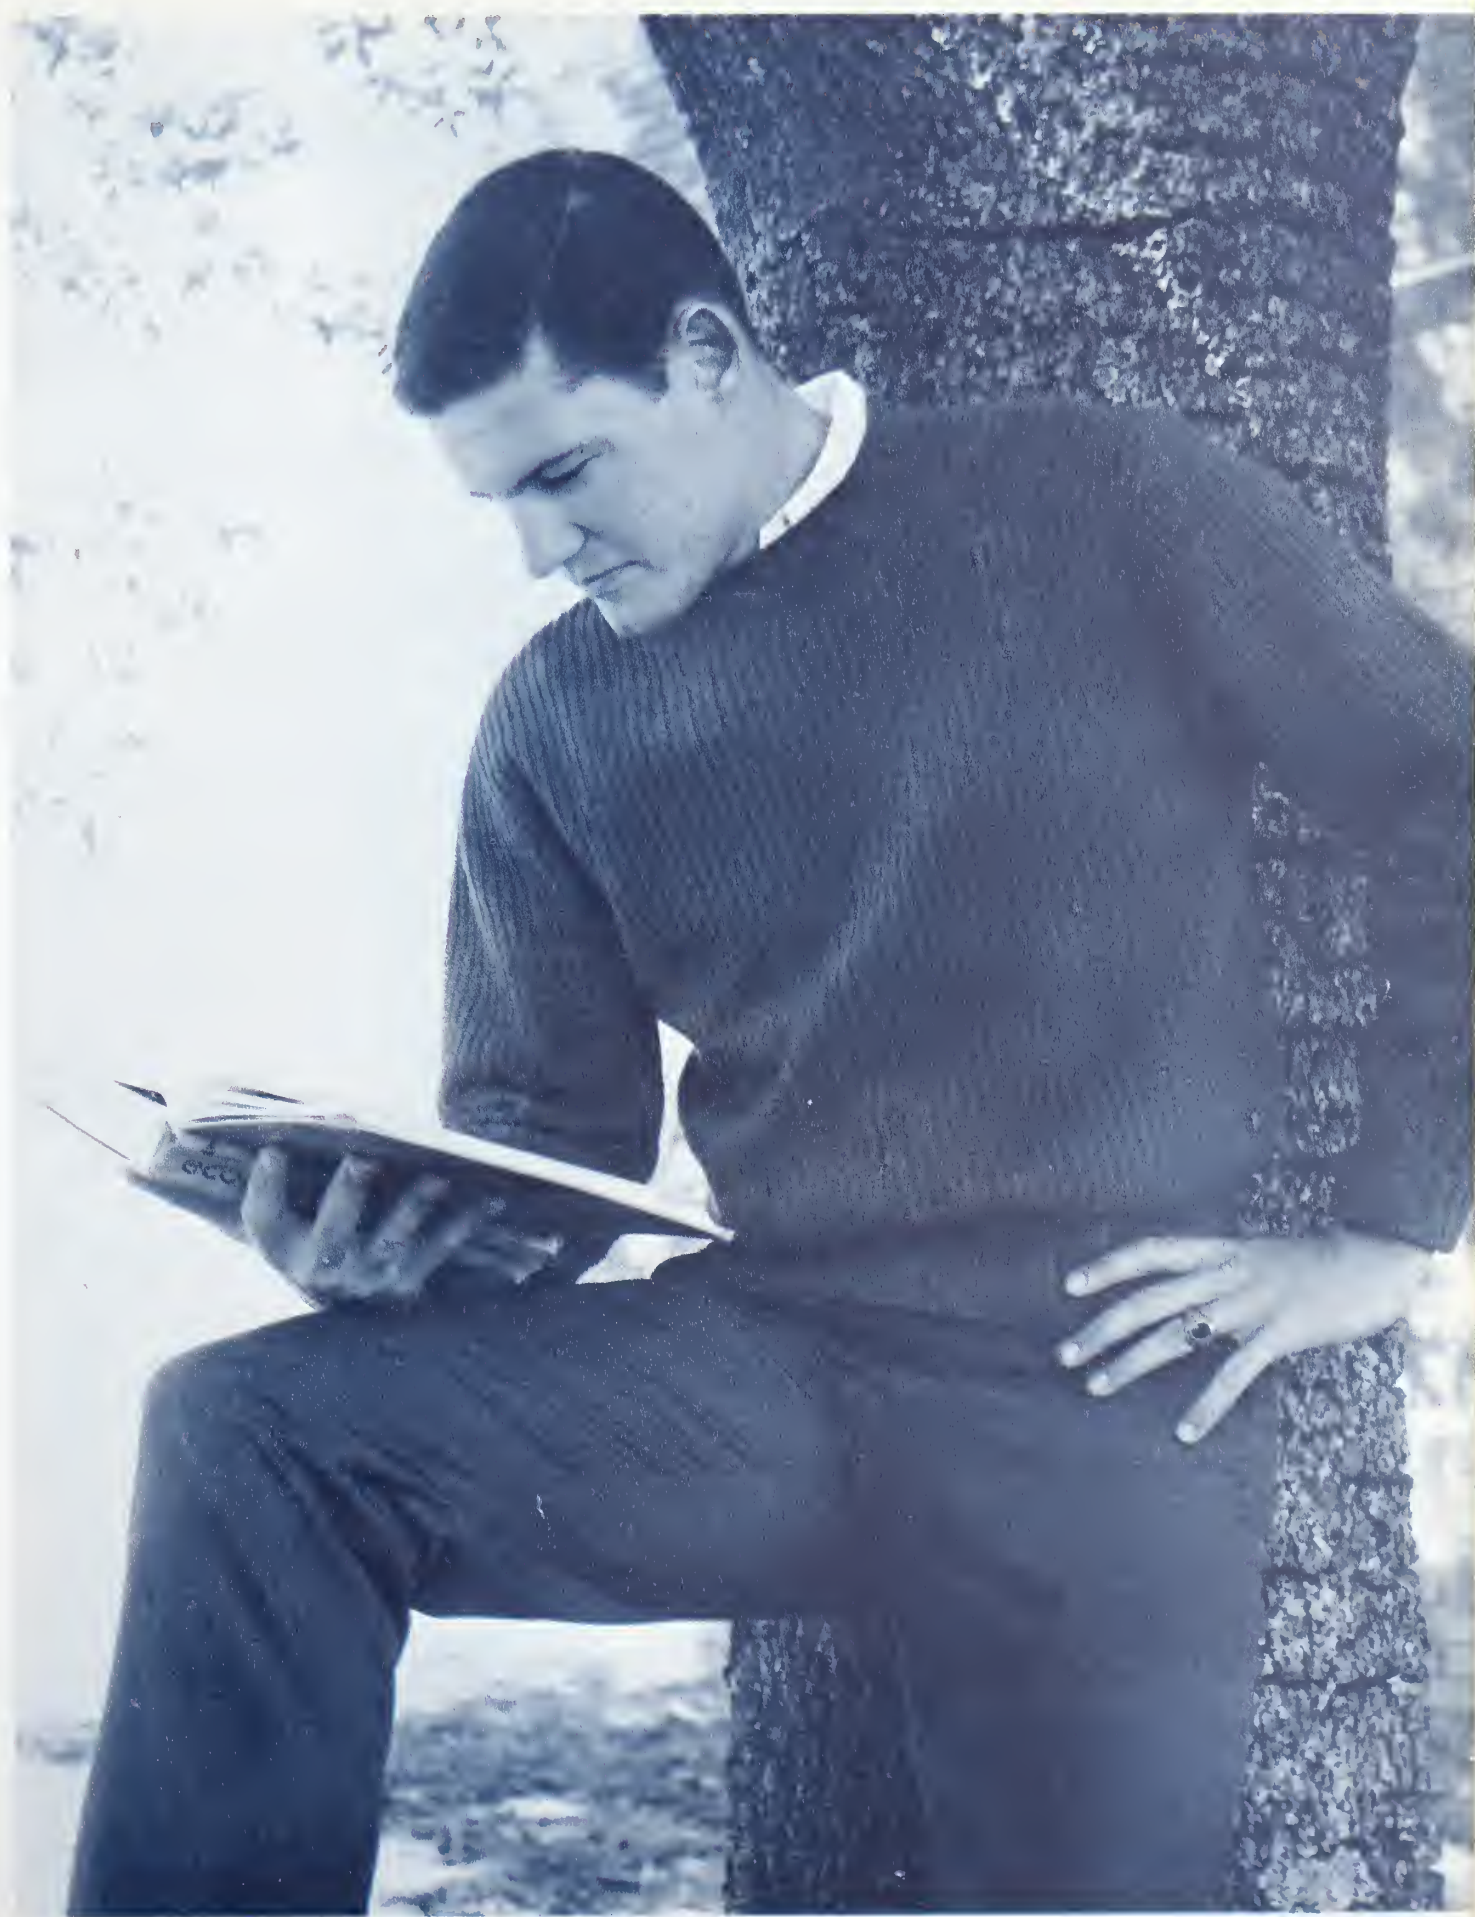

It is a Terminal or Business Degree.

For All . . .

It is an opportunity for scholarship in one of South Carolina's finest junior colleges.

It is dedication to the principles of Christian scholarship and guidance by administration, faculty, trustees.

N.G. is . . .

Knowing what the Psalmist meant when he said: "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills from whence cometh my help."

It is the strength of the mountains before us and the power of book and character behind us.

It is the encouragement of a loyal friend and a devoted teacher.

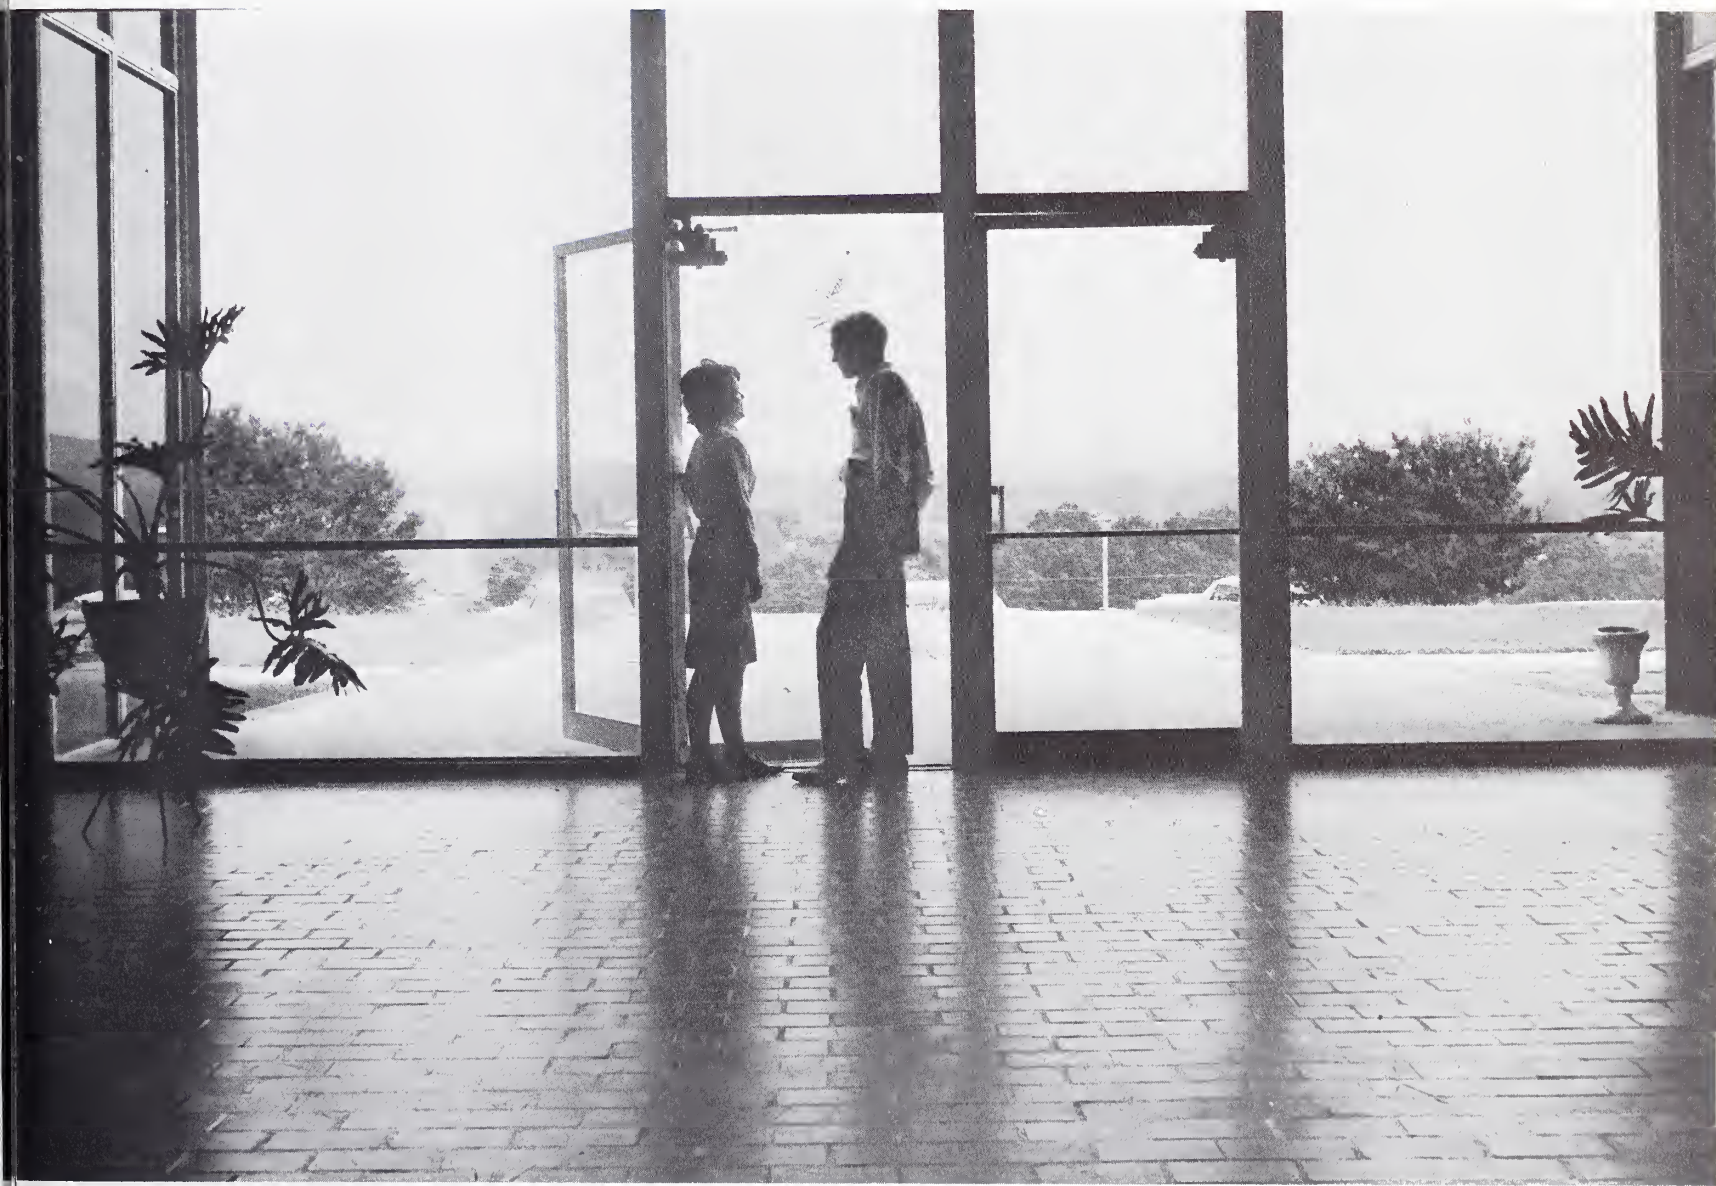

It is the quiet meditation of church worship and hall devotions.

It is a friendly "good morning"; a smile on a rainy day, a walk through the first snowfall; the unforgettable chorals of the college choir; the togetherness of the whole student body joining in a hymn at chapel hour.

It is the quiet approach of night and the shadows lengthening across the mountains.

Inspiration

N.G. is . . . Beauty

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever . . ."

Keats

It is the beauty of the picturesque mountains . . . the golden brim of autumn . . . the frosty caps of winter . . . the verdant peaks of spring.

It is the beauty of a coed with her hair blowing in the wind.

It is the beauty of the glowing faces of eleven girls waiting in anticipation of a crown . . . it is Miss Aurora 1965.

N.G. is . . . Achievement

Strom Thurmond presents Dennis Bussey with an appointment to the U. S. Naval Academy.

1964 graduates Pat Quattlebaum and Rick Cothran receive the Citizenship Medal at graduation.

It is a campaign poster . . . the smile of victory on the face of the new student body president . . .

It is the poised coed stepping to the microphone to speak to her fellow students . . . the music student conducting hymns during chapel hour . . .

It is the team . . . the basketball team, the debate team . . . sometimes the trophy, but always the spirit, the experience, the sense of achievement because of participation.

It is the honor student . . . the appointee to the Naval Academy . . .

It is a cap and a gown . . . graduation with or without honors.

Dedication

To one who is both teacher and friend, guide and companion;

To one who has created a Christian image and helped mold the ideals of North Greenville;

To one who has shown both patience and thoughtfulness, understanding and knowledge;

To one who has influenced both faculty and students;

To one who has the ability to inspire the weakest student and challenge the best;

To one who is versatile in his abilities and interest;

TO WADE H. HALE

We dedicate this 1965 Aurora.

Alma Mater

At the foothills of the mountains
 'Neath the Azure sky,
Stands our noble Alma Mater
 As the years' go by.

Refrain

Excelsior is our motto,
Greatness without fail.
Hail to thee, our Alma Mater,
Hail, North Greenville, Hail!

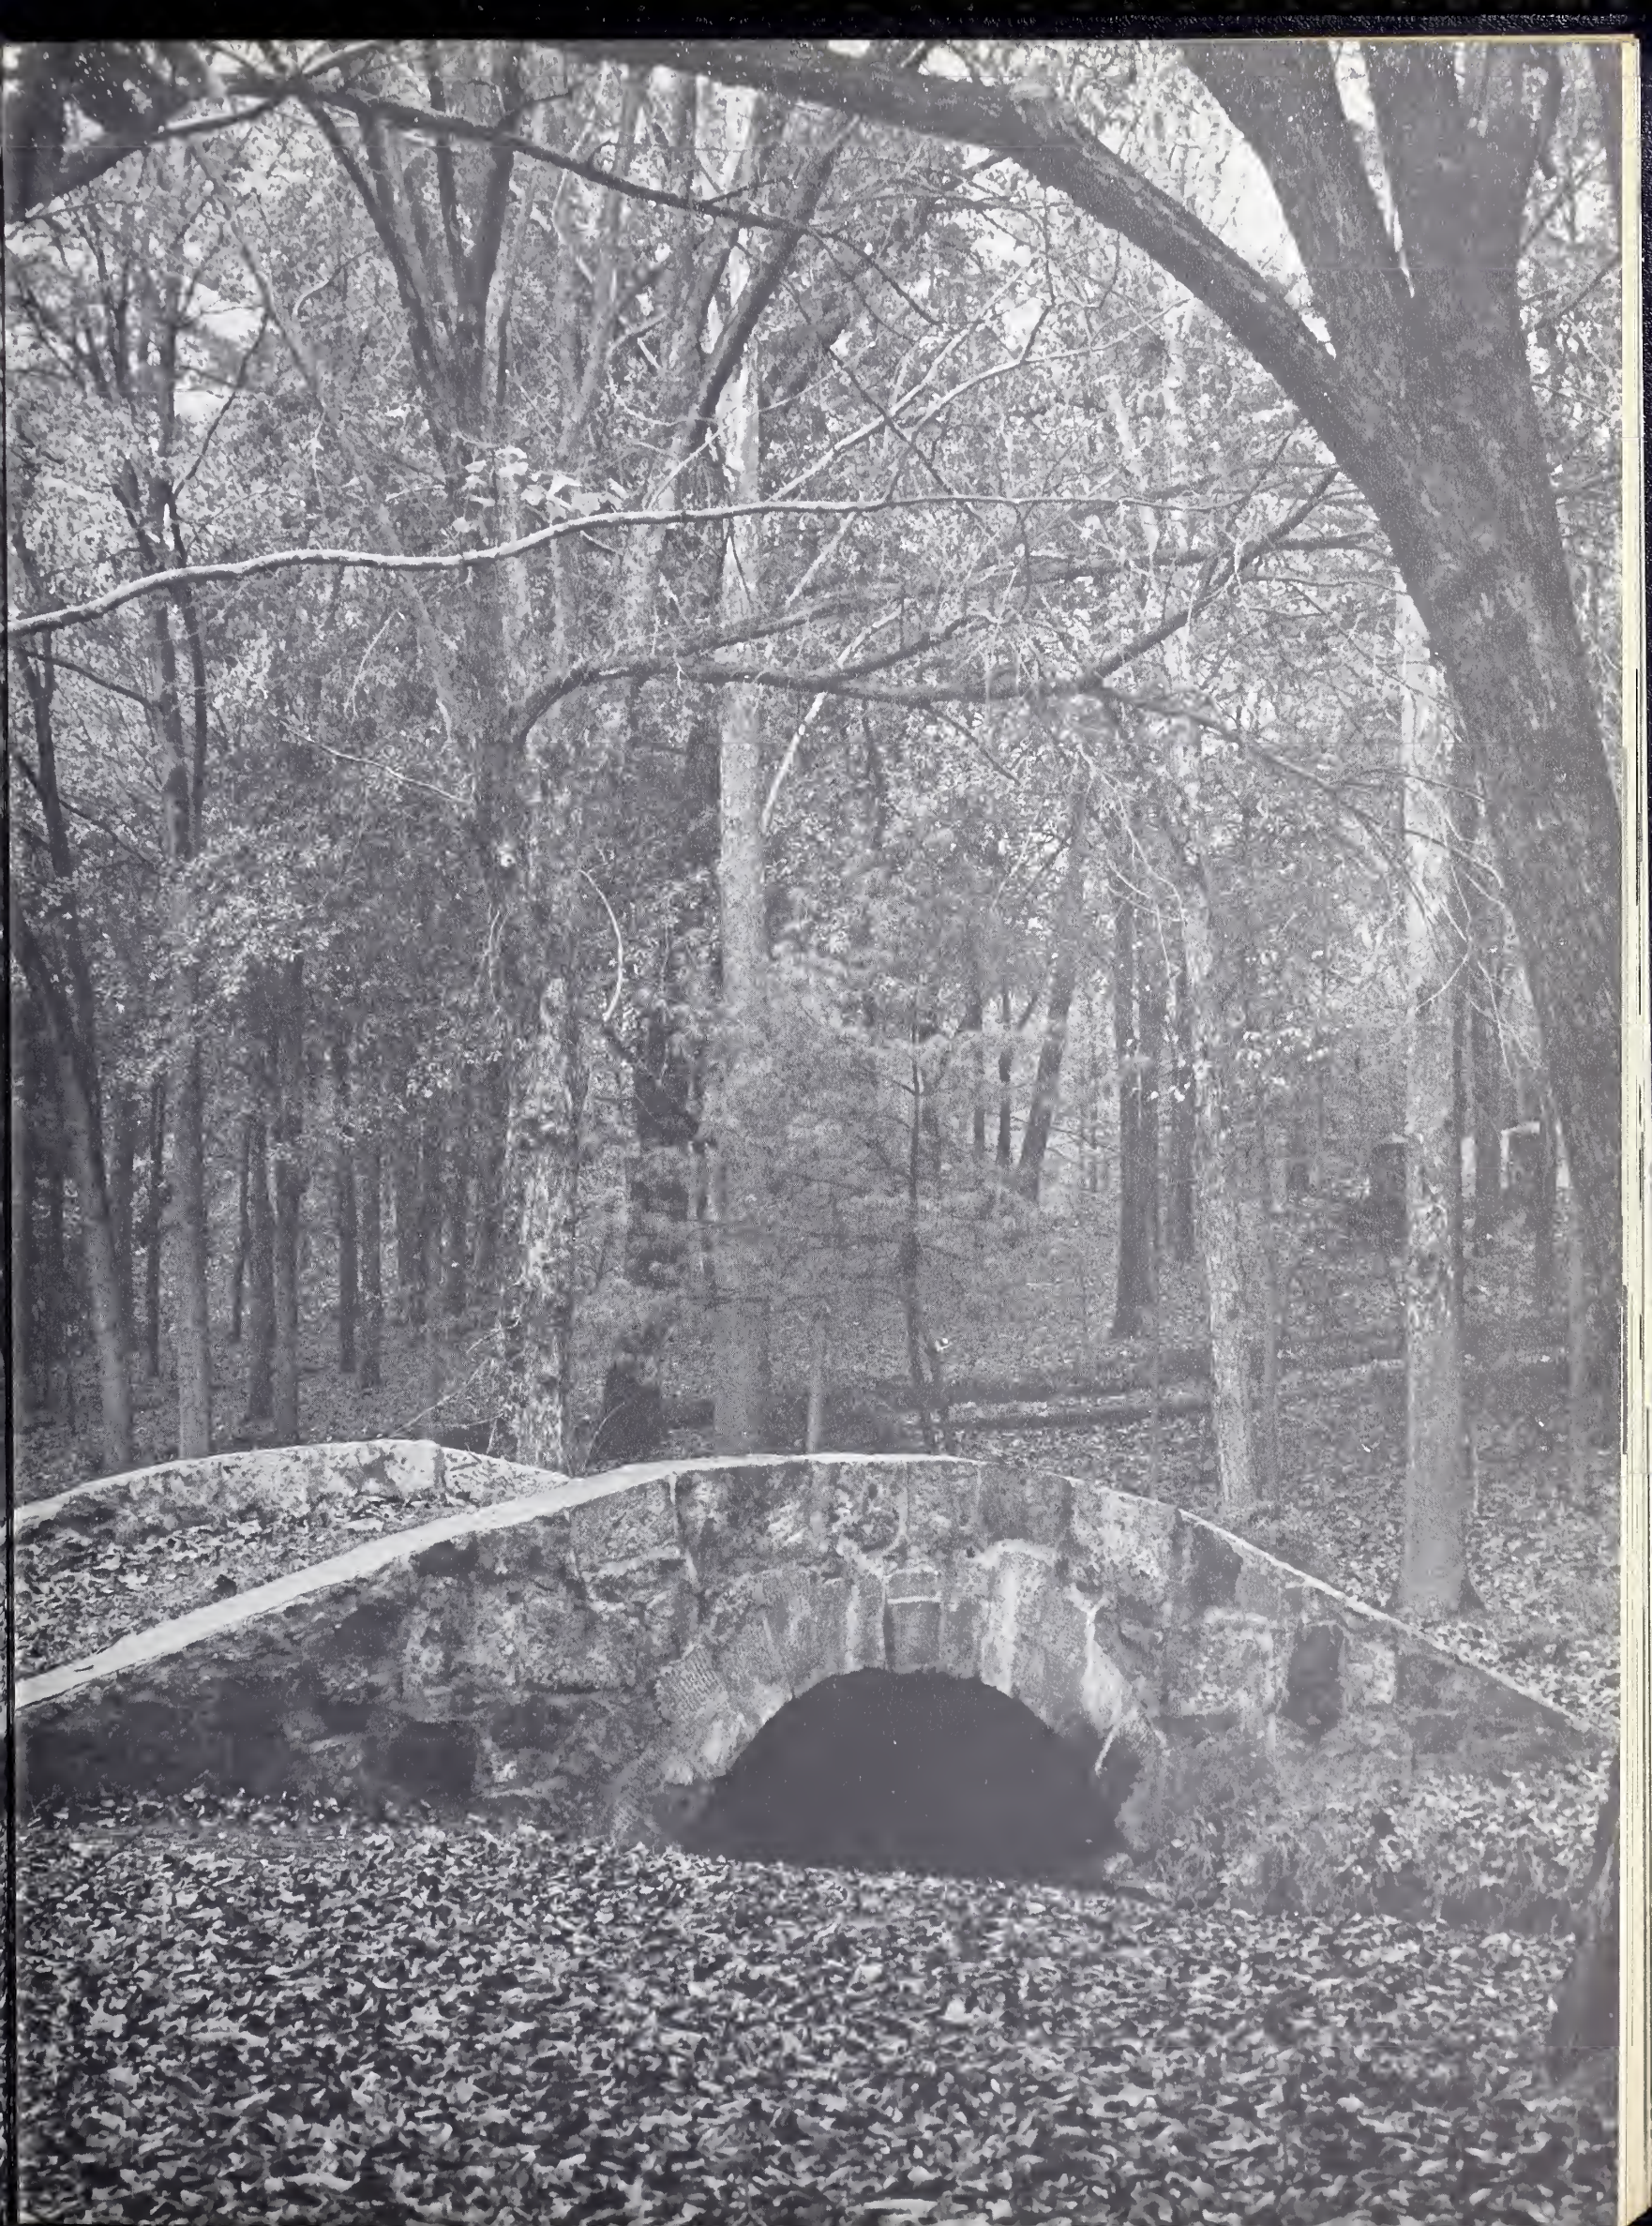

For our ideals and traditions
 Praises still are rung,
Cherished as in yesterday
When our school was young.

When in pleasure and in trials
 We depart from thee,
Worthy sons and worthy daughters
 May we prove to be.

Members of the Administration at North Greenville strive to give the students the best possible education.

Academic courses in the major fields of science, music, English, mathematics, and foreign languages provide a firm foundation for advanced study. Terminal and Business degrees prepare the students for entering the vocation of their choice. The problems of family, life and appreciation of the finer arts of life are taught by the Home Economics and Fine Arts Departments.

Being classed among the finer junior colleges in South Carolina is important to the Administration, faculty and trustees who constantly seek to maintain high standards and better prepare the students through guidance and teaching to accept their places in the world of Christian and community life.

Academics

Dr. Thomas L. Neely, President

TO THE CLASS OF 1965

As you come to your graduation, no doubt your hearts are filled with many emotions. Impressions you have received these two years will shape your future more than you now realize. North Greenville has become a very vital part of you.

You will remember the beauty of front campus long after you do not see it each day. You will also remember the beauty of truth that was implanted in your heart while here.

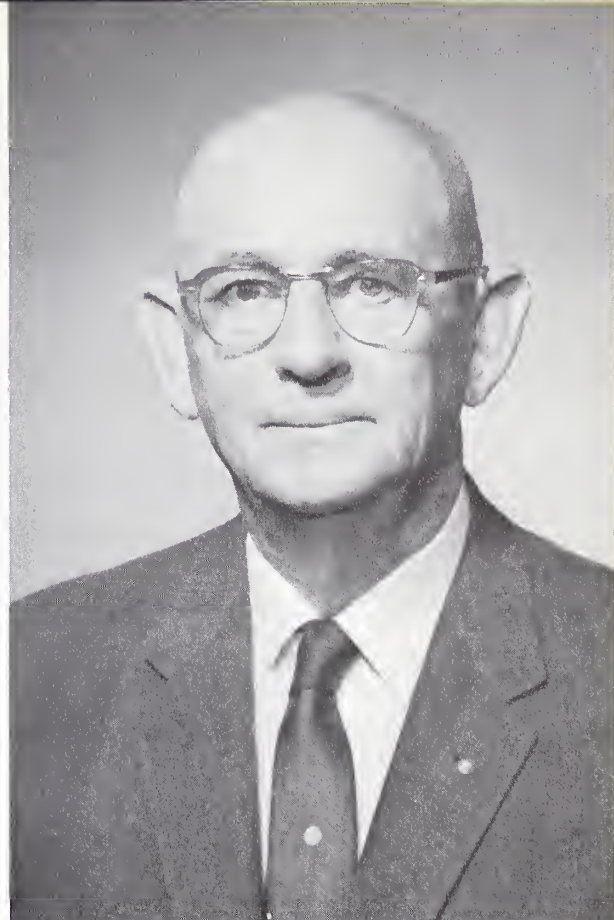

Perhaps you will remember the dedication you found here. This is the dedication of a faculty that believes in the worth of every individual. This principle is reflected in all the school policies, from admissions to graduation. It is reflected in a striving for academic excellency, and yet at the same time taking into account human differences.

I hope you will also remember the faith of North Greenville. It is a faith that is extended to the ends of the earth through North Greenville graduates. It manifests itself through teaching, healing, preaching, loving and living.

This and much more is North Greenville.

Sincerely,

T. L. Neely

Students of commerce study the world of business from its fundamental principles all the way to the exciting application of those principles in today's expanding economy. Vocational opportunities in business are related to their aspects of technical competence and standards of efficiency. Students employ skills gained in other departments of study: English, Mathematics, Economics, Psychology and Sociology, and bring them into focus on current commercial responsibilities and opportunities.

English

The English department has a three-fold purpose: namely, communication, information, and inspiration. Freshman English stresses the mastery of grammar and writing as an important skill for every individual. Literature as an expression of the great ideals and thoughts of men of the past, is recognized as an invaluable storehouse of knowledge and inspiration.

Sociology and Psychology

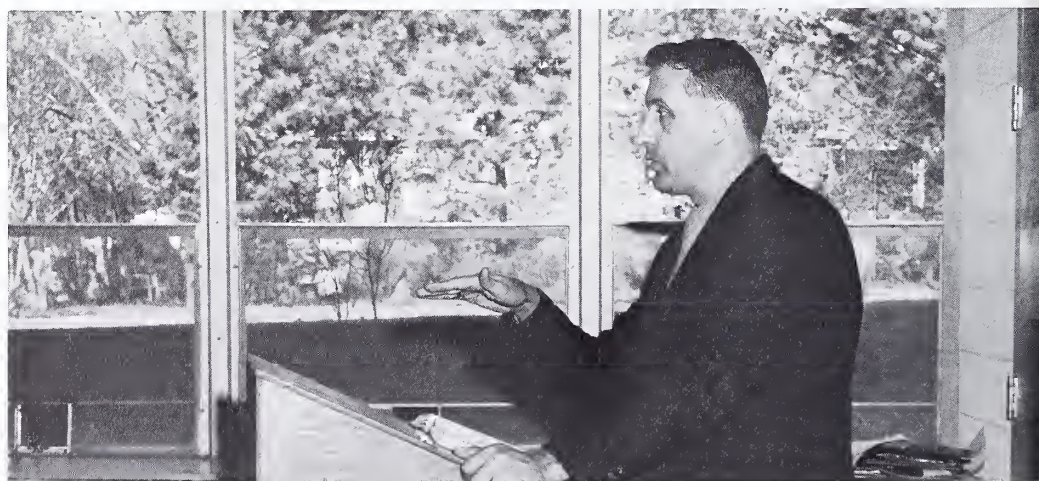

The study of psychology and sociology open avenues of understanding to man's complex individual and social nature. Because man is a social creature the study of sociology is important in solving the pressing problems of this century. Because man is a mental and emotional creature with inner motivations, only the study of man in his totality can help each person to be his best and own true self. Because this college is a Christian institution concern for man is not limited to his soul but includes his deepest nature and his broadest relationships.

Religion

L. BYRON HARBIN

SHERROD S. STOVER

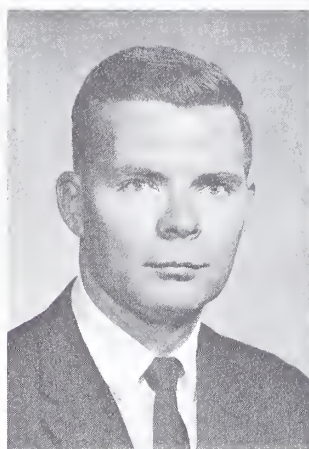

PAUL A. TALMADGE

The aim of the Religion Department is to teach basic historical events of the Bible in their larger setting, using the Bible as the primary source and supplementing this with helpful resource materials. Emphasis is placed on dates, personalities, archeological items and the nature of Biblical revelation. One of the main functions of these courses is to introduce the student to important facts and prepare him for the deeper and more involved courses in his future studies. These courses of instruction help prepare the student for useful leadership in his church and community.

Natural Sciences

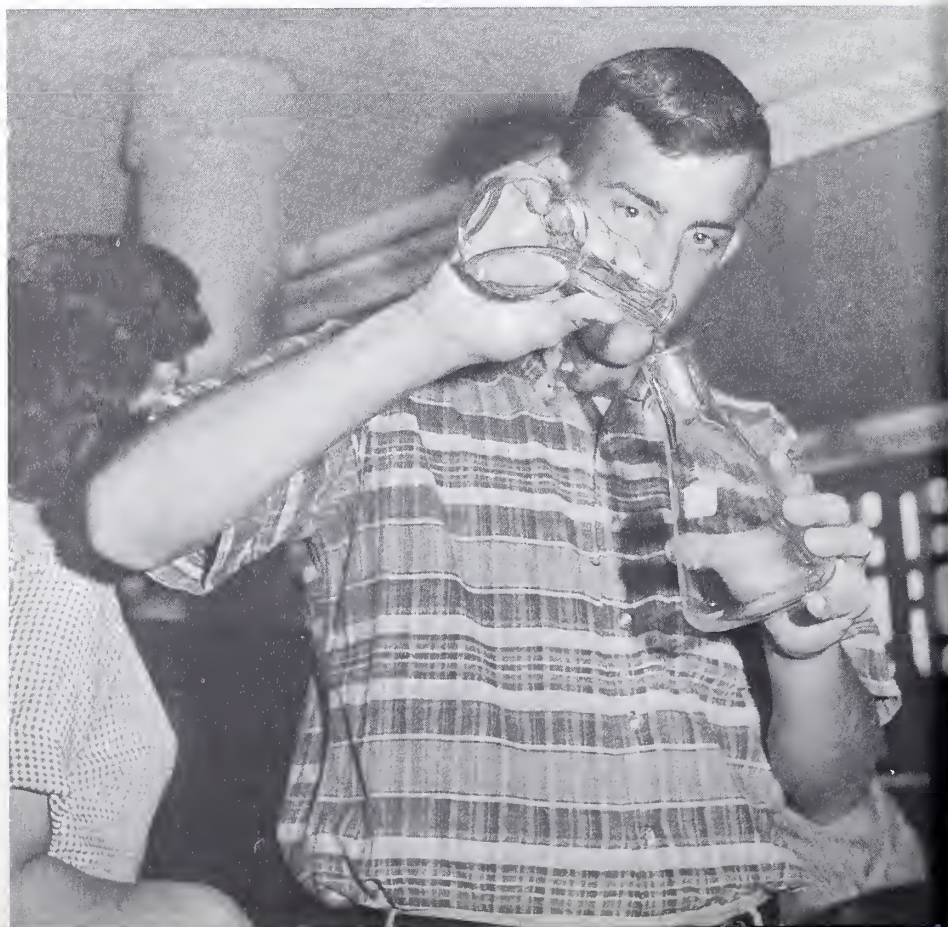

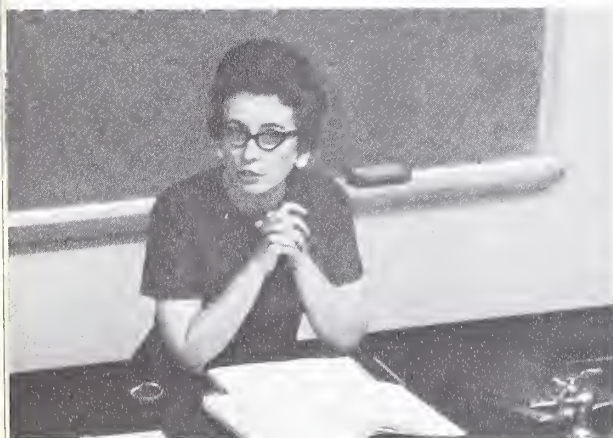

To ignore natural science in the present day, or to treat it as an educational discipline alone, is fatal. More than ever before Christian young people need to understand the purely scientific explanation of reality in its proper perspective with humanistic studies. In an age in which man is mistakenly viewed as a biological creature alone, only a study of biology can equip the student to comprehend the full truth. A study of chemistry and physics reveals the building blocks of the universe with which modern man is playing a dangerous game on the one hand, and eradicating man's greatest causes of suffering on the other hand. Geology provides an understanding of the oldest of man's physical sciences in which new frontiers are opened each day.

Languages

NANCY DERMINER

HUGO A. DUARTE

In their study of French, Greek and Spanish, students become skilled in all forms of linguistic usage. The knowledge of forms of expression of other cultures and peoples, both ancient and modern, contributes to the liberal education of the student of languages. Students of French absorb a rich cultural, literary and artistic heritage. Students of Spanish begin to relate themselves to a part of the world's population recently thrust into new importance. Students of Greek begin an experience of exploring the Biblical, religious, and philosophical heritage of past eras which is increasingly relevant today.

L. BYRON HARBIN

JEWEL LEE MILLER

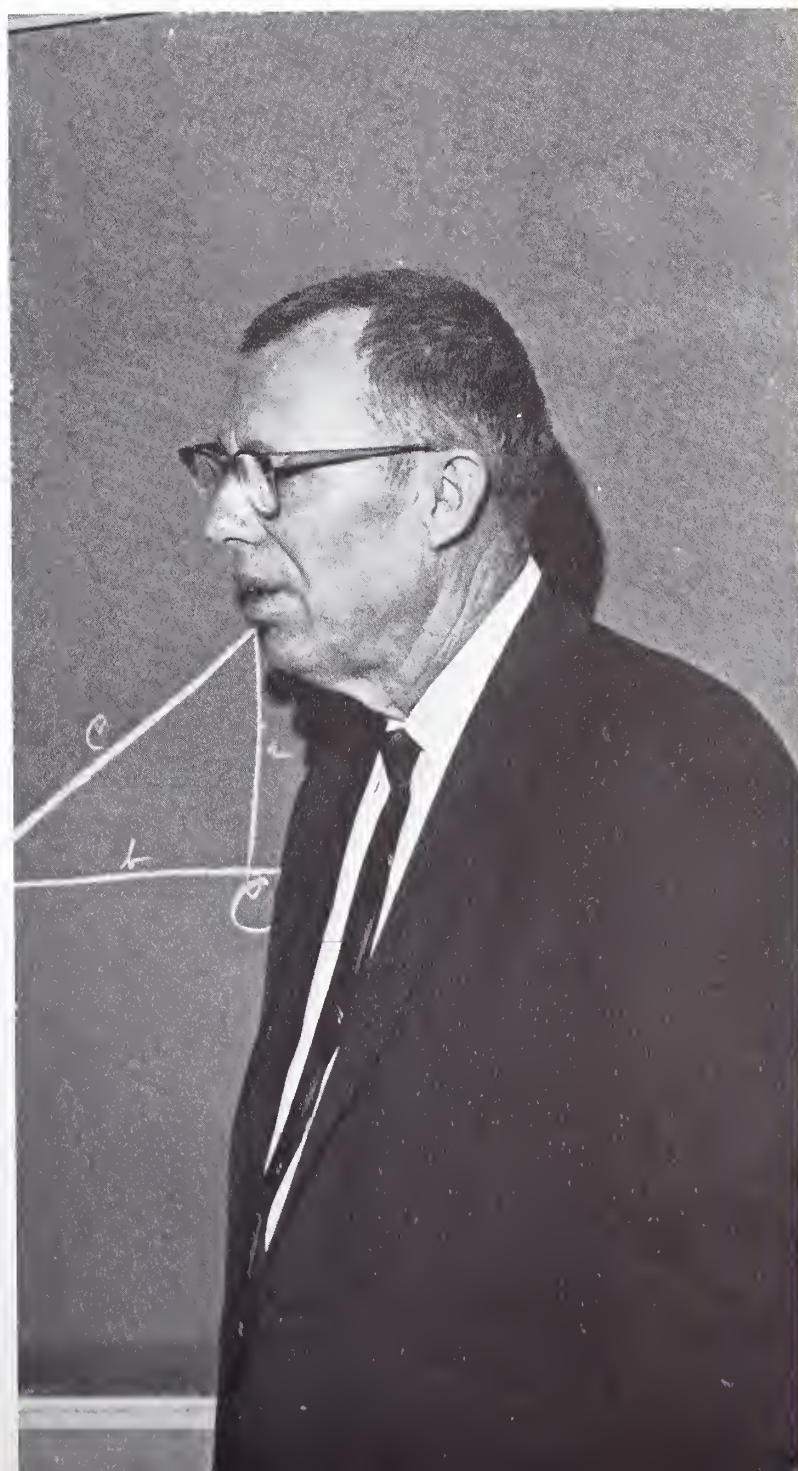

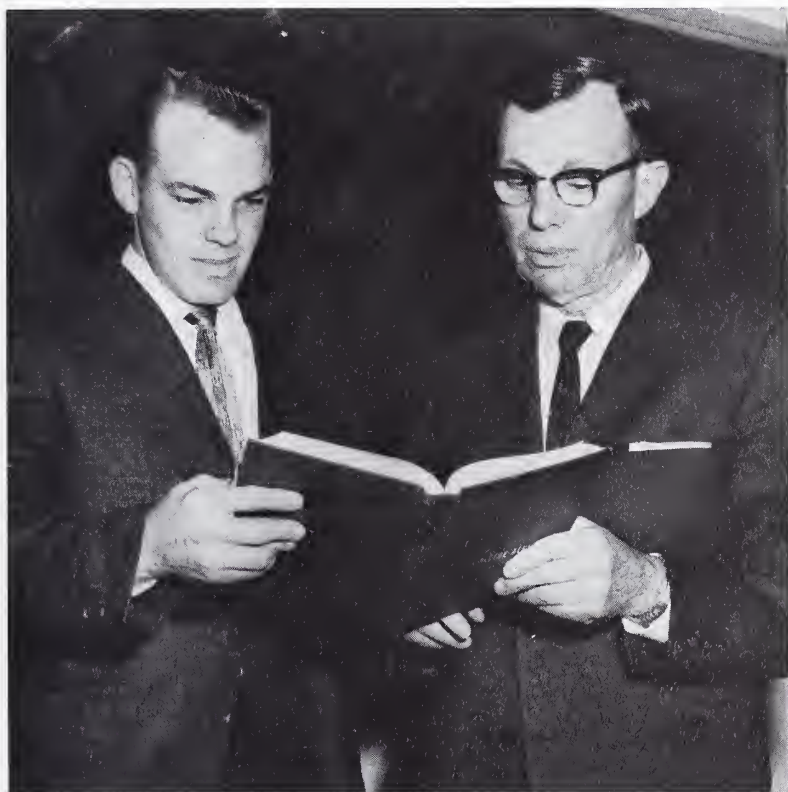

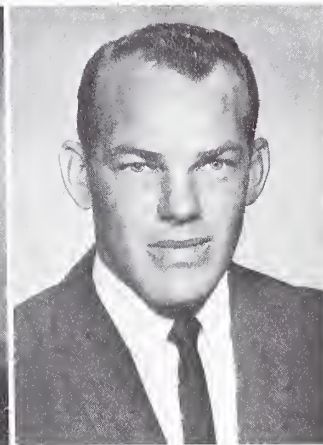

Math

The study of mathematics is one of man's oldest known means of thinking systematically. This important subject field is the key to almost every exact and experimental science and to the burgeoning field of technology today. Precise analysis, clear reasoning, exact processes and the acquisition of tools of computation are some of the benefits which accrue to students of this subject.

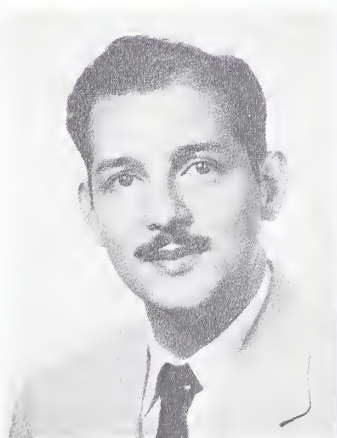

ROBERT J. BLACKWELL

History and Government

In the belief that "One cannot know where he is in the present or where he is going in the future without knowing where man has been in the past," the courses in western civilization and American history are taught to provide just this sort of orientation. Students of history acquaint themselves with the diverse sources from which flow our present world tensions and opportunities in our own and other nations. As makers of the history of tomorrow, today's students of history are encouraged to approach their study both thoroughly and creatively with depth of understanding and breadth of appreciation.

Home Economics

The Home Economic program endeavors to give a student a knowledge and training that will enrich her personal, family, and community life. The department curriculum is so arranged that a student may complete two years of standard college work which will enable her to transfer to a junior class in Home Economics in a senior college.

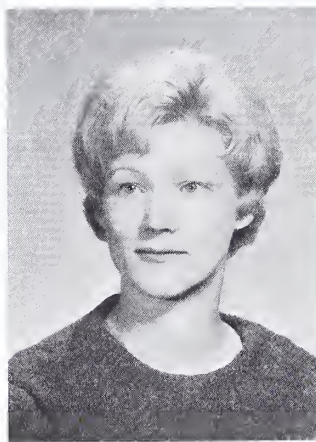

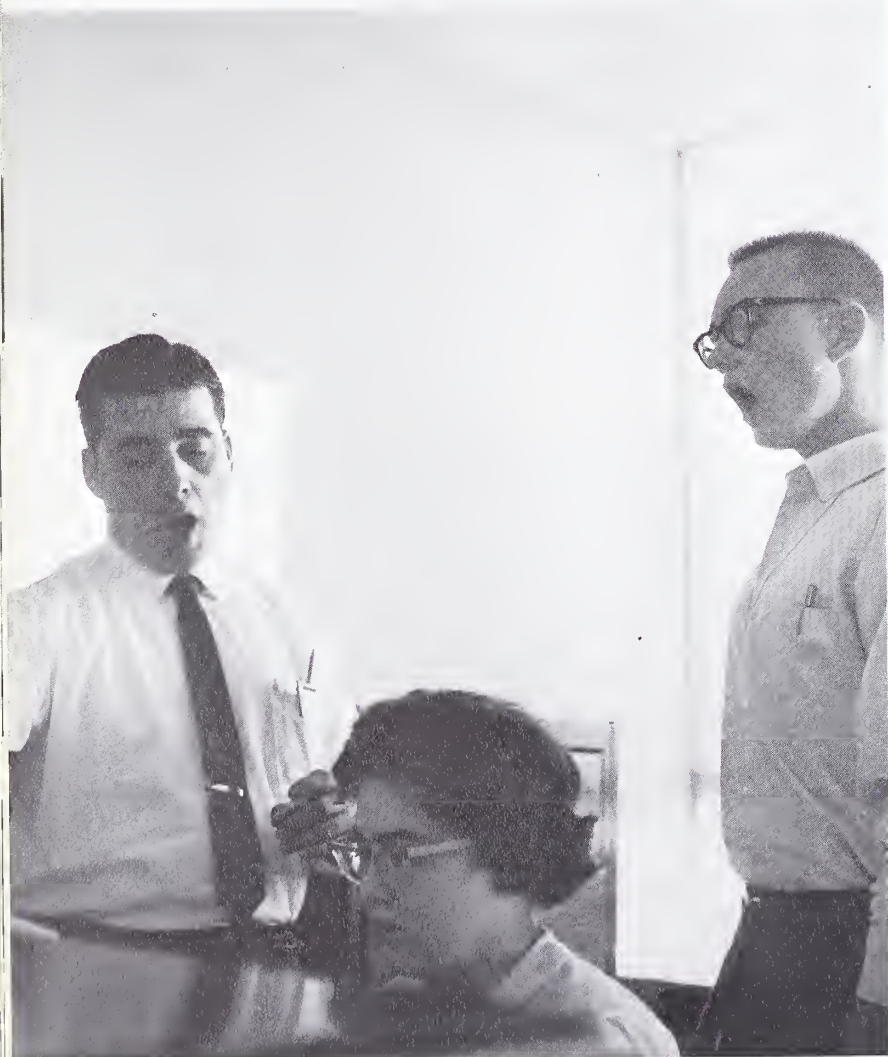

GLENNIE COOK DILL

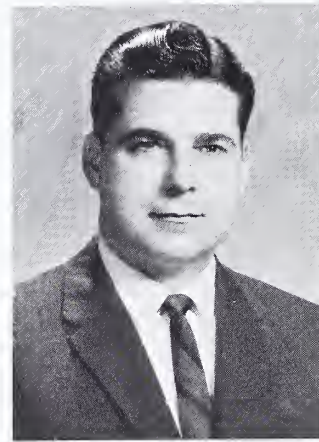

Music

The Music Department has an overall objective: both the development of skill in performance and an understanding and appreciation of the discipline. It offers specialized training for its majors through courses such as music history, music theory, and conducting, as well as providing vocal or instrumental instruction for those students not majoring in music.

Physical Education

The Physical Education Department strives to provide skilled leadership and adequate facilities which will afford an opportunity for the individual or group to act in situations which are physically wholesome, mentally stimulating, satisfying and socially sound. It is hoped that an individual may be developed and educated through the medium of wholesome and interesting physical activities so he will realize his maximum capacity both physically and mentally and will learn to use his powers intelligently and co-operatively as a good citizen even under violent emotional stress.

Miss Elsie Tuttle

"Our most gracious heavenly Father, we thank Thee for Thy many blessings . . . Amen."

Thus does Miss Tuttle begin each of her classes, for she feels she of all people has much for which to be thankful.

Born the eldest in a family of 12 children, she realized early in life that if she were to receive an education it would be largely through her own efforts.

Miss Tuttle did many things to get her education. After graduating from high school, she taught in grammar school for several years and began taking correspondence courses. She attended a summer term at Northwestern University and later attended Illinois State Normal University where she earned her Bachelor of Arts degree. While there she was granted an honorary scholarship to Peabody College for Teachers. She has also studied in Louisiana State University and University of Chicago. She received her master's degree in geography at George Peabody College, with a minor in economics.

Through postgraduate courses and other extension courses, Miss Tuttle has besides her majors in geography, education, and economics, majors in social science, general science and history.

Before coming to North Greenville 27 years ago, Miss Tuttle had taught in colleges and universities in Illinois, Iowa, Texas and Louisiana.

Miss Tuttle enjoys traveling by plane, has toured many sections of the United States, spent six weeks in Europe, and visited Mexico and Hawaii. As a result of her interest in world travel she has organized the World Wide Interest Club on the North Greenville campus.

Miss Tuttle will retire this year after a life given in fruitful service to young people. She is a member of Gamma Theta Upsilon, national honorary geography fraternity, and Pi Gamma Mu, national honorary social science society. For the past several years she has been selected a leader in American science in Who's Who in American Education, an illustrated biographical directory of eminent leaders in research, industrial, governmental, and educational scientific fields in the United States and Canada. She received the award of "Fellow" by the National Council for Geographic Education.

Every member of the North Greenville student body is an integral part of the college. Each student comes to North Greenville in search of friendship, knowledge and a sense of belonging. Every one also has a contribution to make to the school spirit.

Freshmen arrive in the fall apprehensive of what lies ahead in their college life. They eagerly participate in the school events and soon are swept up in a whirlwind of varied activities.

Sophomores belong and are living examples of the traditional friendliness at North Greenville. Graduation nears and sophomores regretfully part to their separate ways never to forget the memories shared during these two years at North Greenville.

The strains of the Alma Mater, the snowball fights, the candlelight supper at Valentine's, and the nightly visits to the canteen are memories now. All these memories draw us nearer, and even though we must part, we take with us this spirit.

For the Sophomores NG will be . . . remembrance. For two years we have learned, loved, lived and laughed together. As we stand at graduation and receive that long awaited diploma, we realize that this is the end — the reward of our studies . . . For the last time we sing the Alma Mater and it echoes into the hills.

In September 1964, 304 girls and boys, with their parents, were invited to North Greenville for a period of orientation. They were met and welcomed by the B.S.U. Council members, then introduced to the administration and faculty. The students were then counseled, registered, and finally settled down to meeting classes.

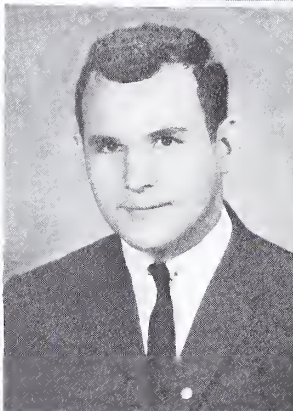

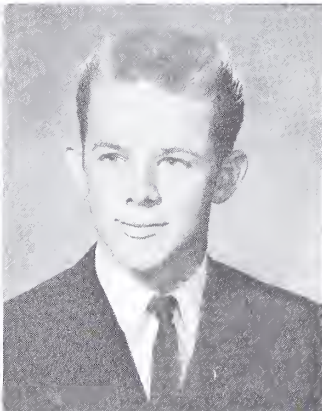

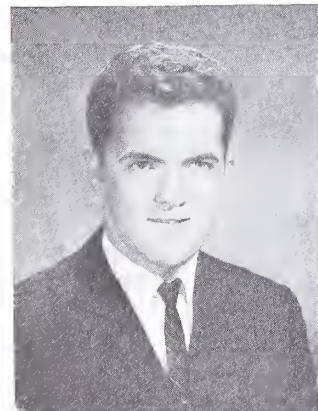

Soon the Sophomores were on hand to initiate them . . . it was "Frosh Week" with beanies for sale . . . servitude to Sophomores . . . rat cheering for Mounties to victory . . . then came 9 weeks' tests . . . Thanksgiving . . . Christmas . . . final exams . . . more C than A grades . . . beginning another semester . . . 9 weeks' tests . . . Easter . . . now . . . Sophomores!

The extracurricular activities offer varied opportunities for the students in the particular subject of interest to him.

During "rush week" at the beginning of the year, new students are invited to join the various organizations. Membership in most organizations is based on a genuine desire on the part of the student to participate; however, there are three honorary societies to which students who maintain a high academic average may be accepted. The student government unites these organizations and groups work together for the continued improvement of North Greenville.

Organizations

JOHN BOLIN
President

Student Government Association Executive Council

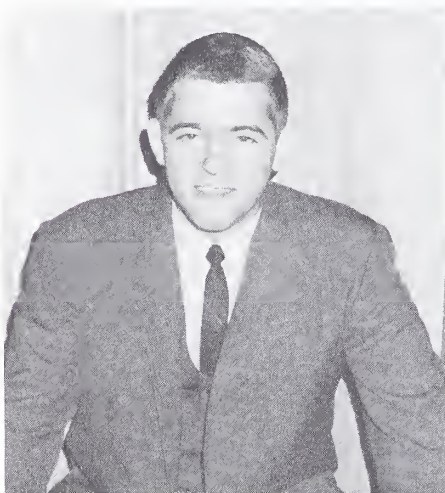

The function of the Student Government Association is: to coordinate all student activities; to undertake campus-wide projects which will promote the accomplishments of college objectives and improvement of campus life; to handle all student disciplinary matters and to vote the student opinion. In February the students voted to ammend the constitution by the adoption of a demerit system.

The Judicial Council handles the minor disciplinary matters that arise on the campus.

The council is composed of seven members. Two freshman boarding students and a freshman day student are elected as permanent members for the year while the presidents of the campus clubs alternate to fill two positions on the council. The president of the S.G.A. is a member of the Judicial Council and automatically its chairman; the vice-president of the S.G.A. is its secretary.

Dean Howard Literary Society

The D.H.L.S. is an organization for young men who are genuinely interested in personal improvement. The main objective of the organization is to train young men to be aware of current affairs and to help them develop platform manners.

The activities of the society are debating and discussing public and current affairs, public speaking contests, club and public debates, and an annual banquet.

Debate Team

The objects of debate are to increase one's understanding of current topics and to better one's inherent capacities of reasoning and public address. On February 17 during chapel the team debated the national topic which is "Resolved that the government should establish a system of public works for the unemployed." Wayne Crosby and Martha Pate, the negative team, won the debate.

NG

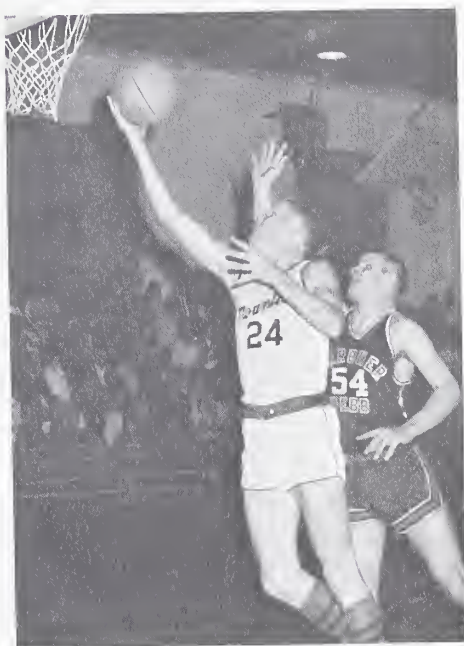

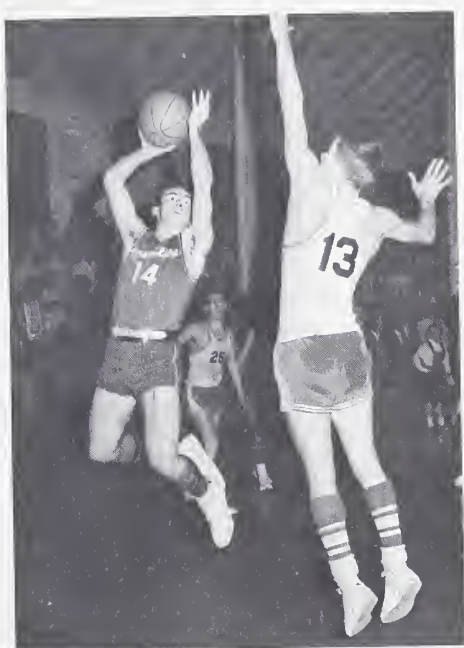

Sports are an integral part of North Greenville. With the attitude of training the student, not only physically but socially, the sports program aims at development of the body and growth in sportsmanship. Among the activities offered are basketball, track, baseball, softball, football, tennis, golf and archery.

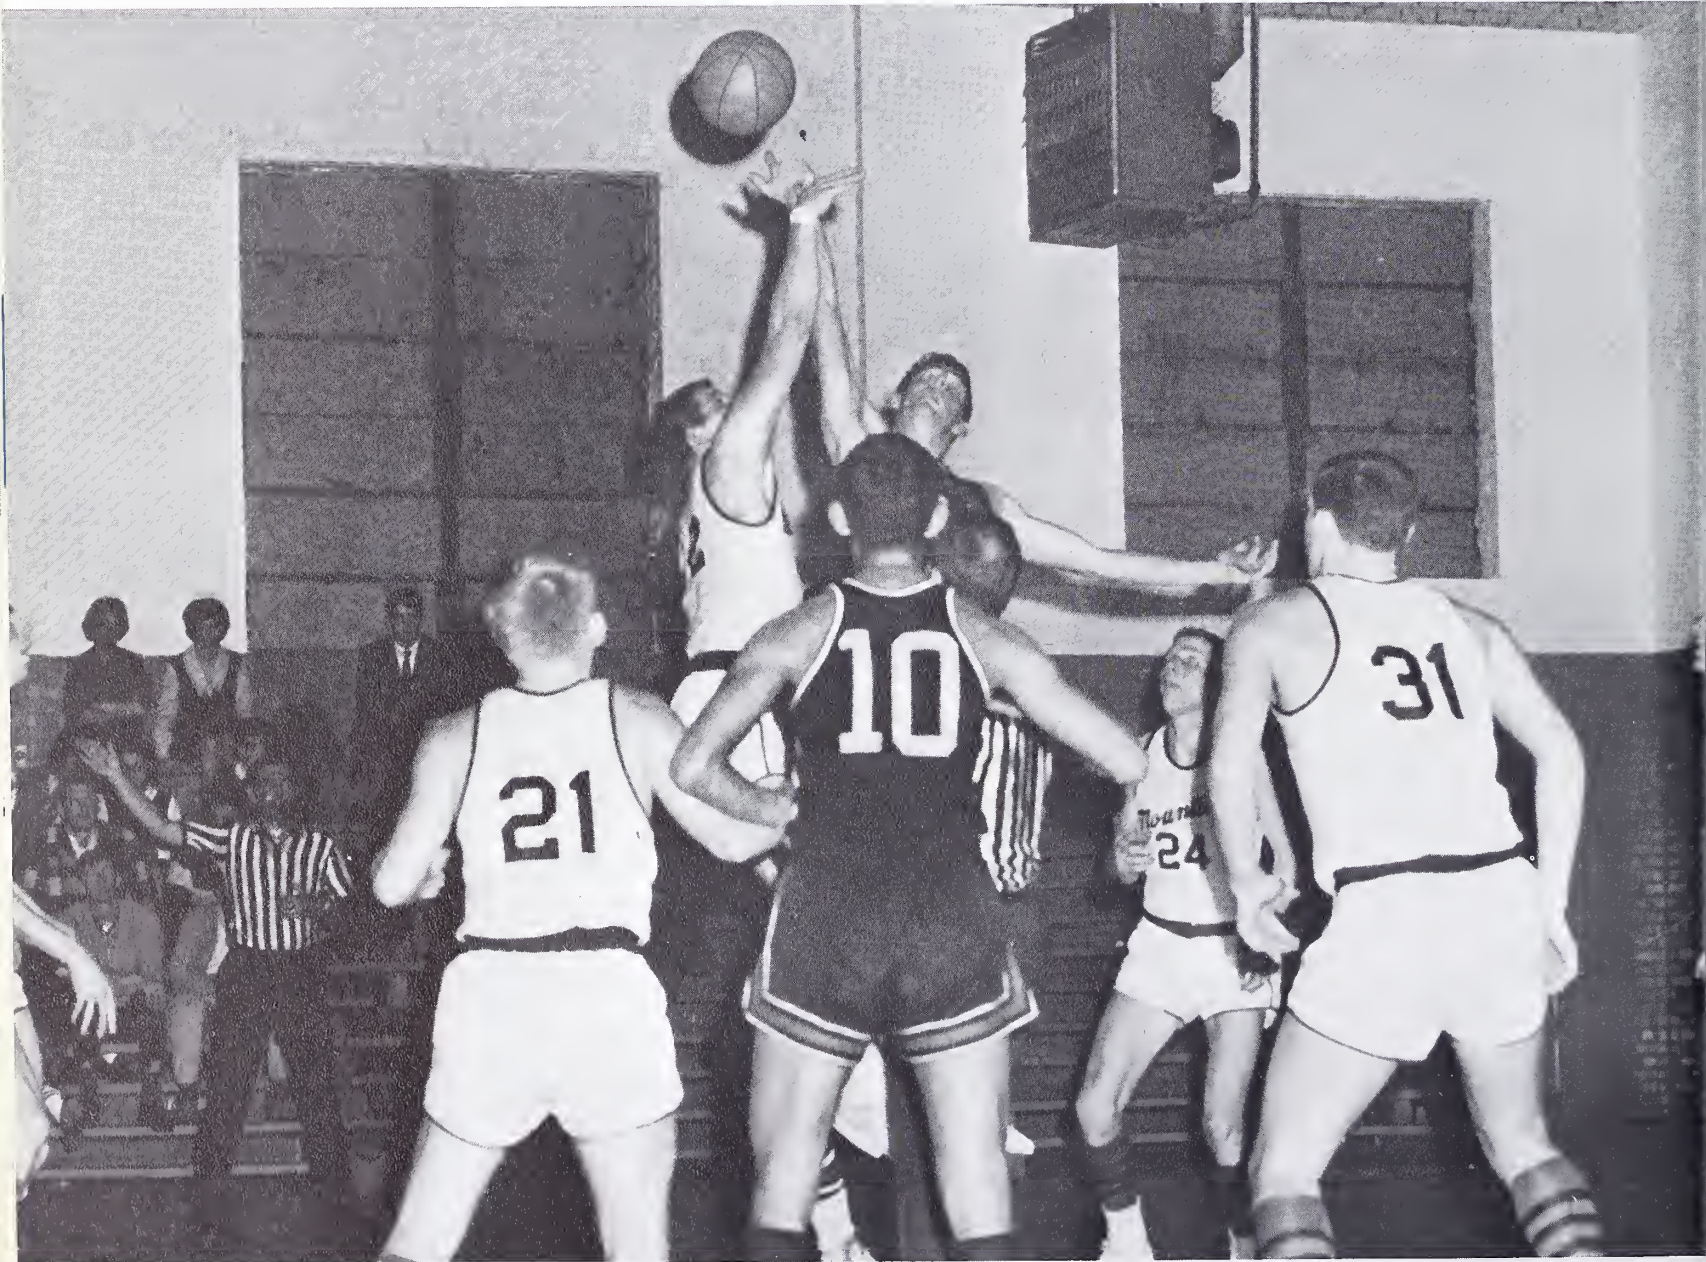

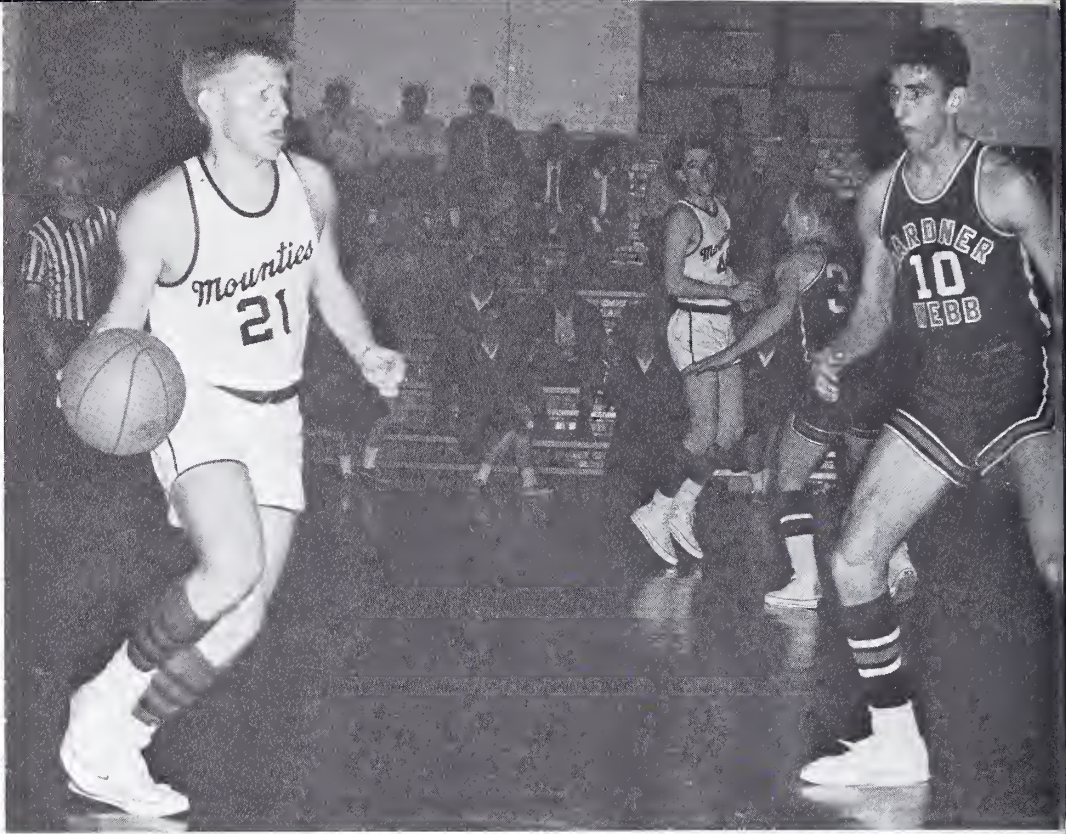

Sports

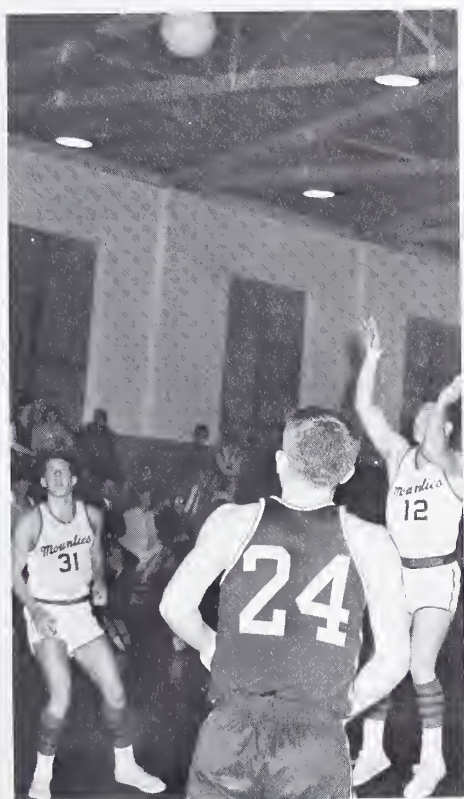

On the second day of December 1964, a new coach, Harvey Tankersley, watched a predominately freshmen team take to the floor at Mountie Hall. Many things were uncertain, but as the game progressed, the coach and students became proud. Although the first game was lost, the Mountie team came back, after having won three and lost seven, to better their record at seven wins and eight losses. In the last five games of the season, the Mounties lost three and won two to gain a season record of nine wins and eleven losses. They finished with a conference record of five wins and seven losses.

The Mounties opened the season by dropping the first game to Anderson on the home court by a 69-68 margin. The deciding point came with four seconds remaining in the game. The Mounties then traveled to Wingate where they were defeated for the second time in a row.

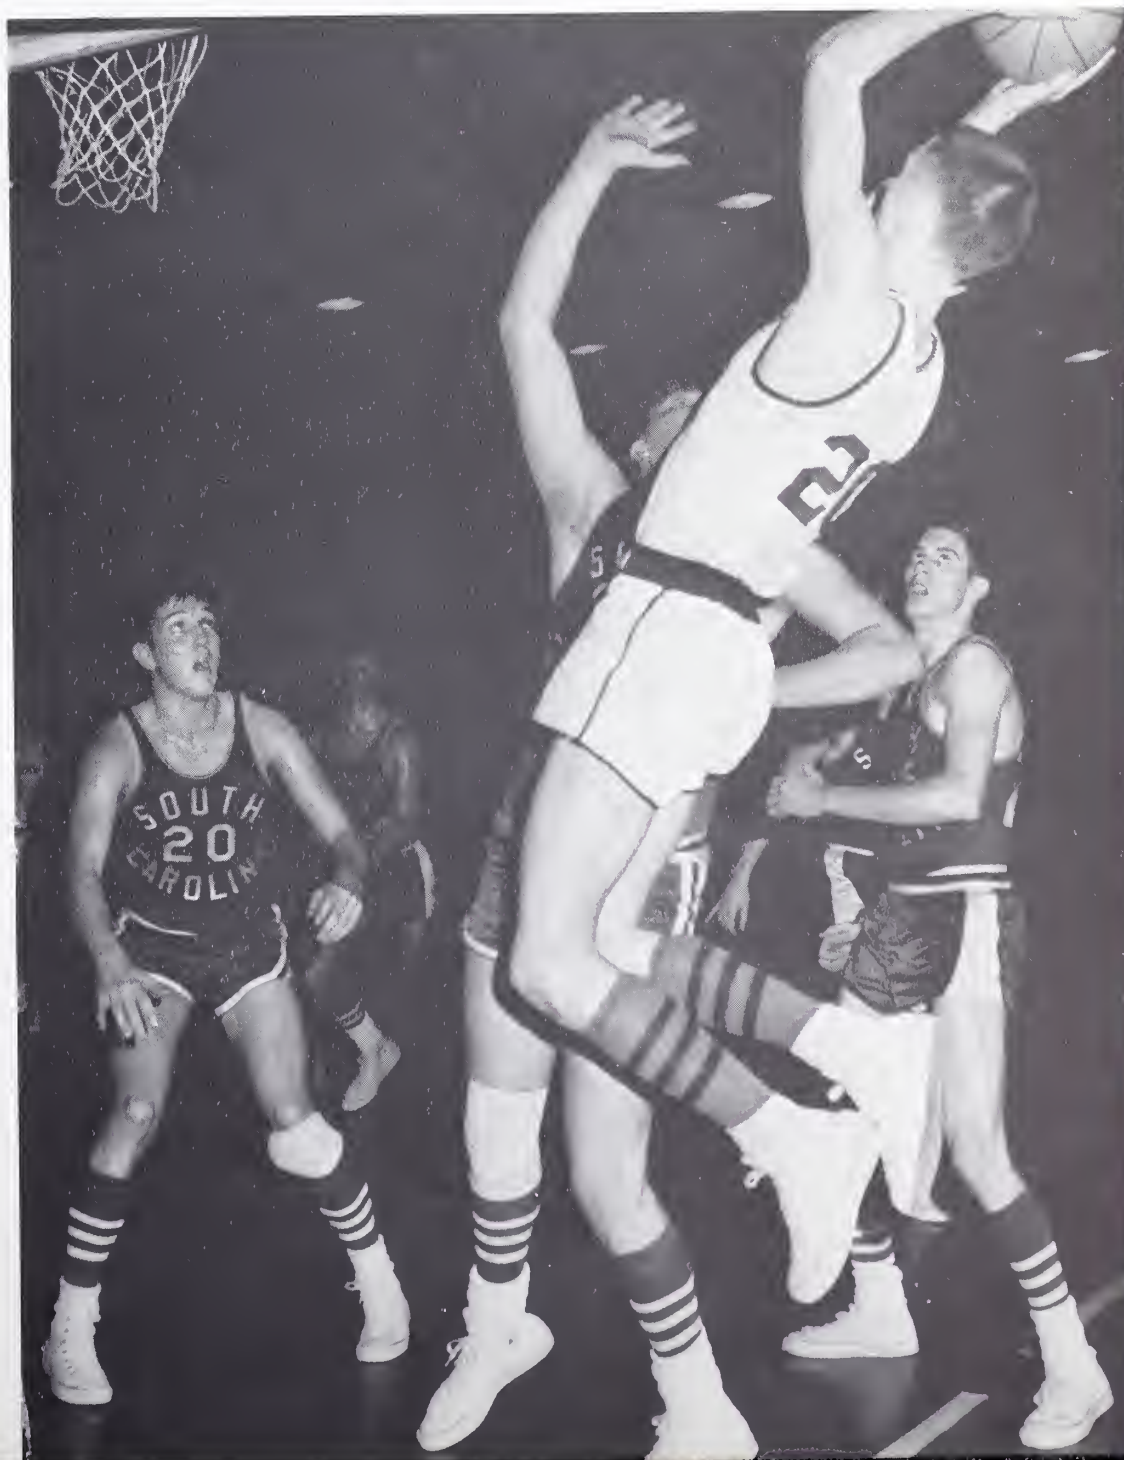

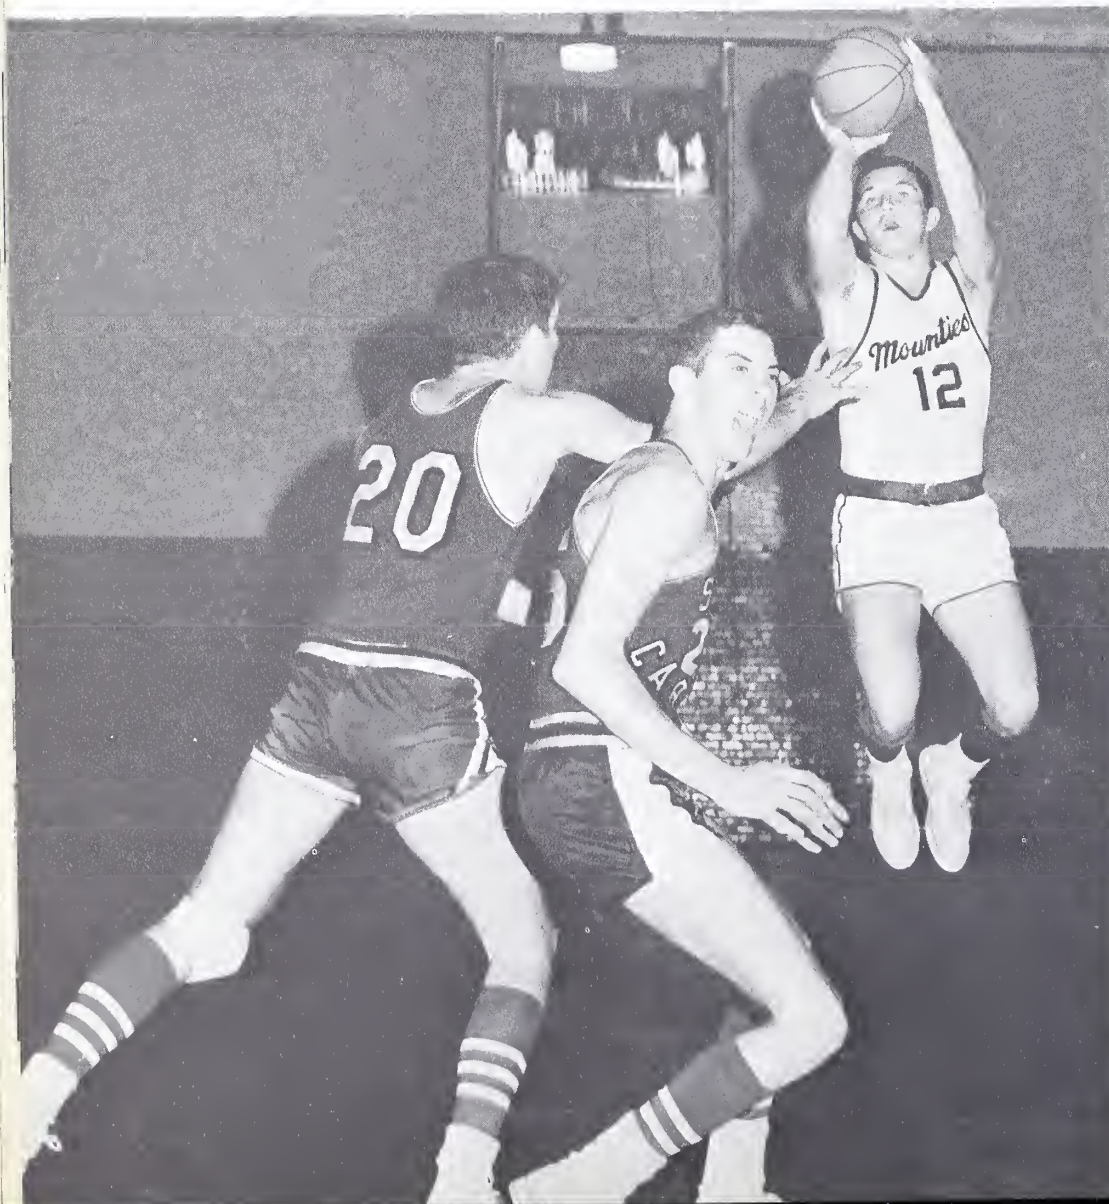

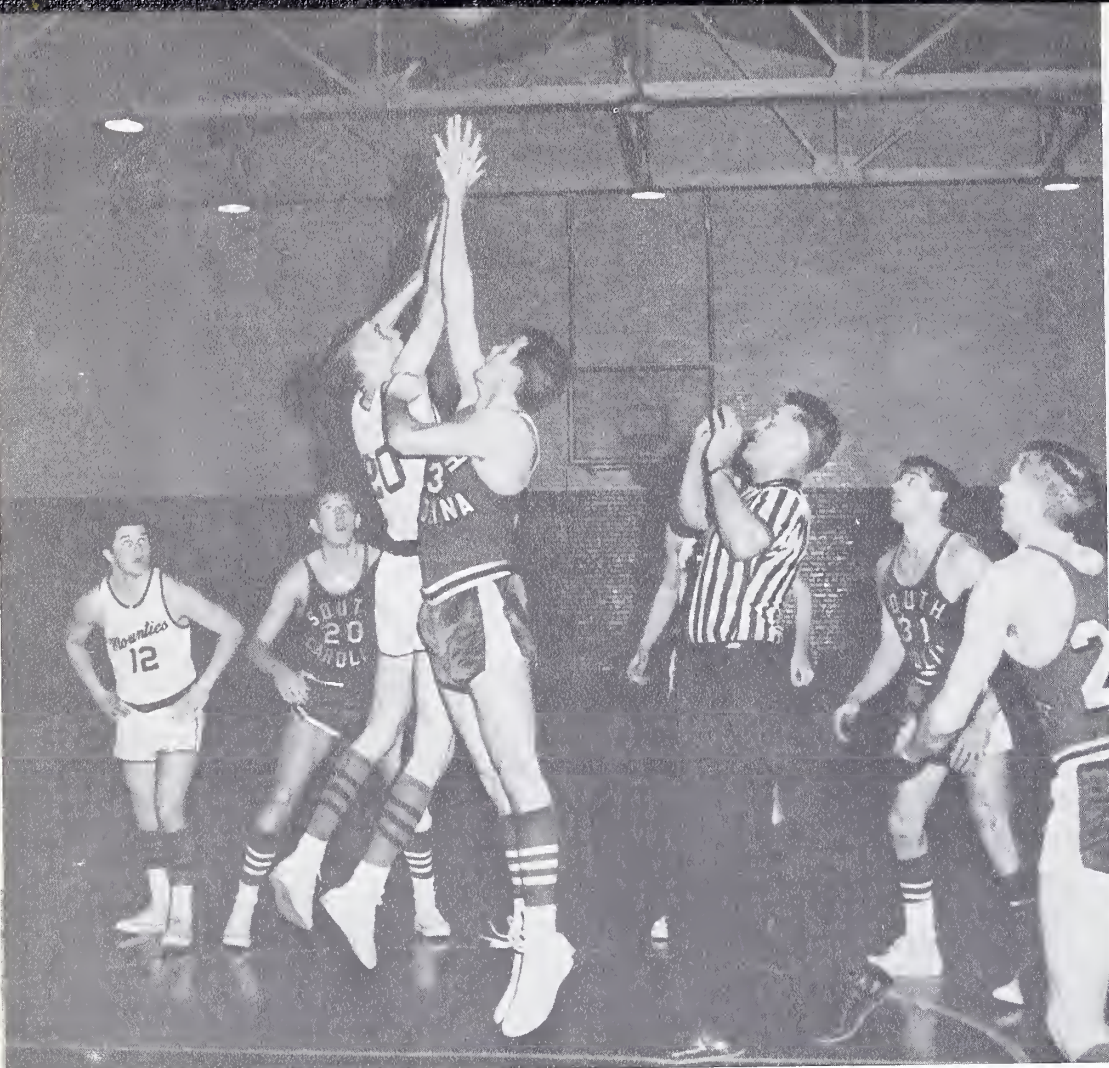

The team made a short trip to Florida for two games. The first game was lost to Pensacola by a 76-58 margin. For their last Florida game, the Mounties traveled to Chipola Junior College. Chipola, being nationally ranked among junior colleges, defeated the Mounties 110-60. On returning to the home court, the Mounties rolled to their first conference victory by defeating Lees McRae. The Mounties then gained their second conference victory by defeating Brevard 85-84 in overtime.

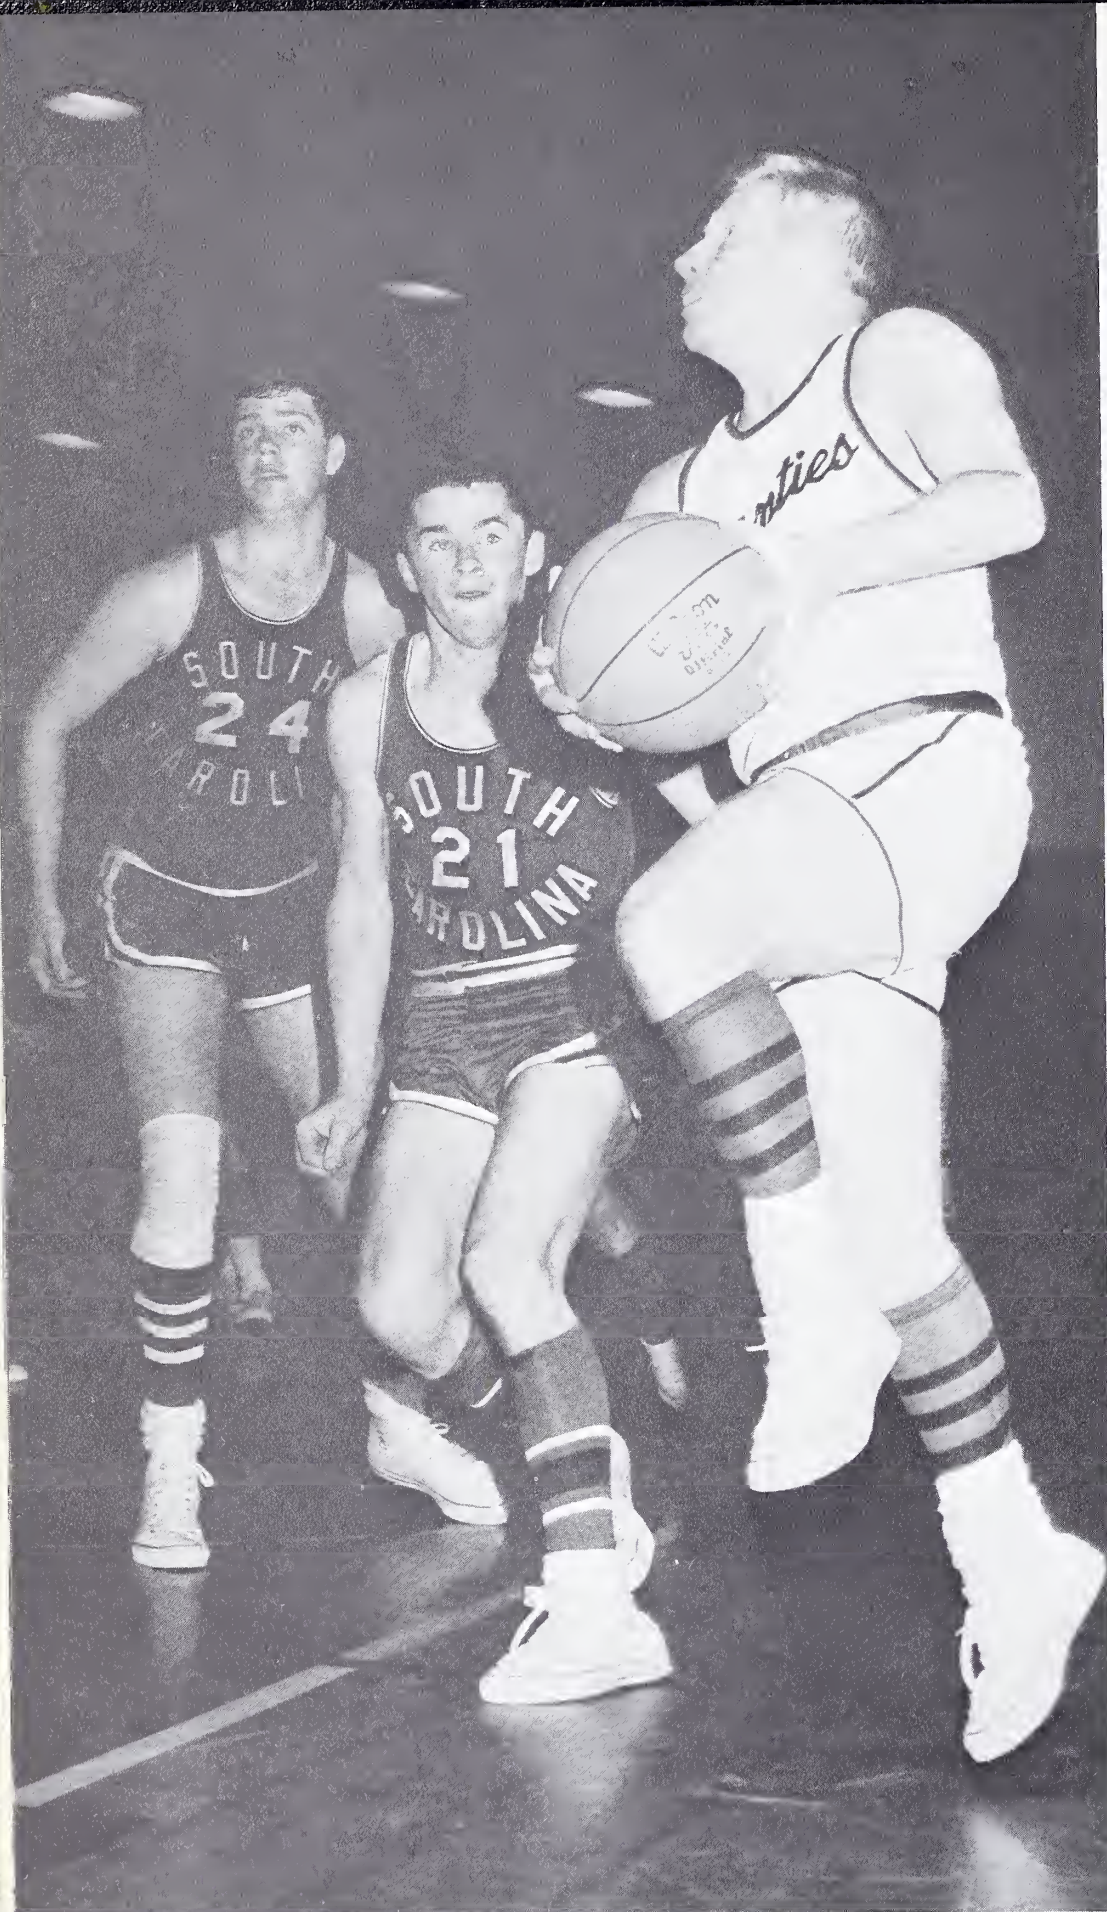

For the third game of the season, the Mounties journeyed to U.S.C. where they were defeated by a 94-76 margin. On returning to Mounty Hall, the Mounties took their first win of the season by defeating the Clemson Cubs 93-73.

With the end of the regular season nearing, the Mounties showed more stamina and desire than in the first games. They showed this by defeating the U.S.C. Frosh by a 92-91 margin; up to this time, U.S.C. had lost only one game. For the next game, the Mounties surpassed the one hundred point margin by defeating Kings by 120-96. This was the final home game for sophomores Mike Davis and Bill Sloan.

The Mounties traveled to Clemson where they met a stunning defeat by a much improved Clemson team. Wingate then came to North Greenville for an important conference game. The Mounties led at half time, but lost the game in the closing minutes. By defeating Spartanburg, then the Mounties gained conference win number three. The Mounties then journeyed to Charlotte where they defeated Kings, led by Mike Davis with 44 points. In the next game, the Mounties defeated Gardner-Webb 77-76.

Girls' Basketball

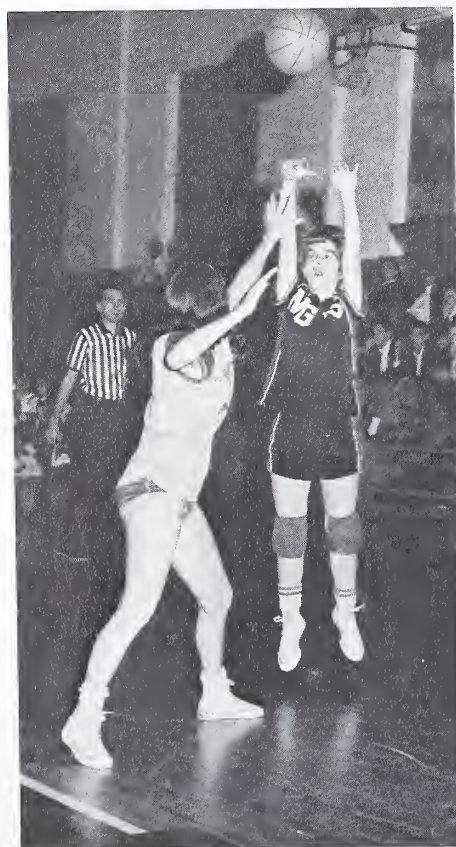

With the first game of the season just around the corner, the Lassies had a look of desire in the final practice before their first encounter. The team, composed mostly of freshmen, showed their enthusiasm and desire by trouncing Daniel 64-14 in the season opener. As the season progressed, the Lassies met more rigid and more experienced competition. With only two games remaining, the Lassies hold a record of four wins, ten losses and one tie. For the last games of the season, they will meet Winthrop and also participate in a sports day at Winthrop College.

In the first conference game, the Lassies took on arch rival Anderson in a hard fought contest, but in the end Anderson held a 60-48 margin to hand the Lassies defeat number one.

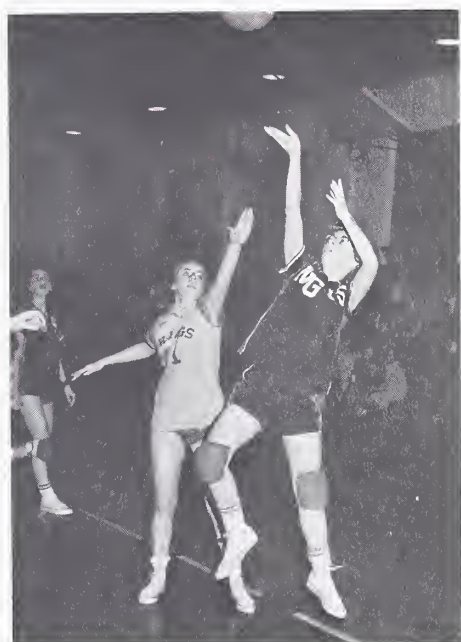

As the season passed swiftly onward, the Lassies dropped thrillers to Chapman, Dorman, Kings, and Anderson. In the final home game, the Lassies were defeated 55-43 by a well experienced Winthrop team. This was the last home game for sophomores Kella Hall, Jolene Sparks, Linda Kent, Judy Still and Marilyn Greene.

Girls' Physical Education

The courses offered in women's physical education at North Greenville include such activities as volleyball, softball, basketball, track, tennis, badminton, ping-pong, archery as well as recreational games.

Daily calisthenics help to keep trim and in good physical condition.

Boys' Physical Education

The courses offered in men's physical education at North Greenville include such activities as calisthenics, running, isometric training and weight training. In these divisions, men are also taught sportsmanship.

Learning the basic skills.

Boys'

With the beginning of school comes the time for students to get together and divide up into teams for Intramural football. This past fall, two sophomore boys, David Farrior and Rick Shaw, took charge of the Intramural Sports Department. There were five teams to participate. These were the Chinese Bandits, the Rolling Stones, Bennett's Boys, the Saint and the Sinners, and the Day Students. Each afternoon at two o'clock two teams would engage in a duel of the gridiron. Sportsmanship and fair play were two rules that were carried out to the fullest extent.

Intramural Football

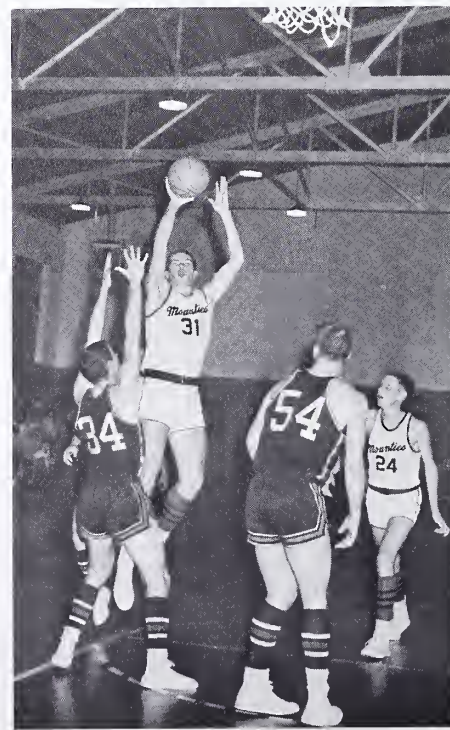

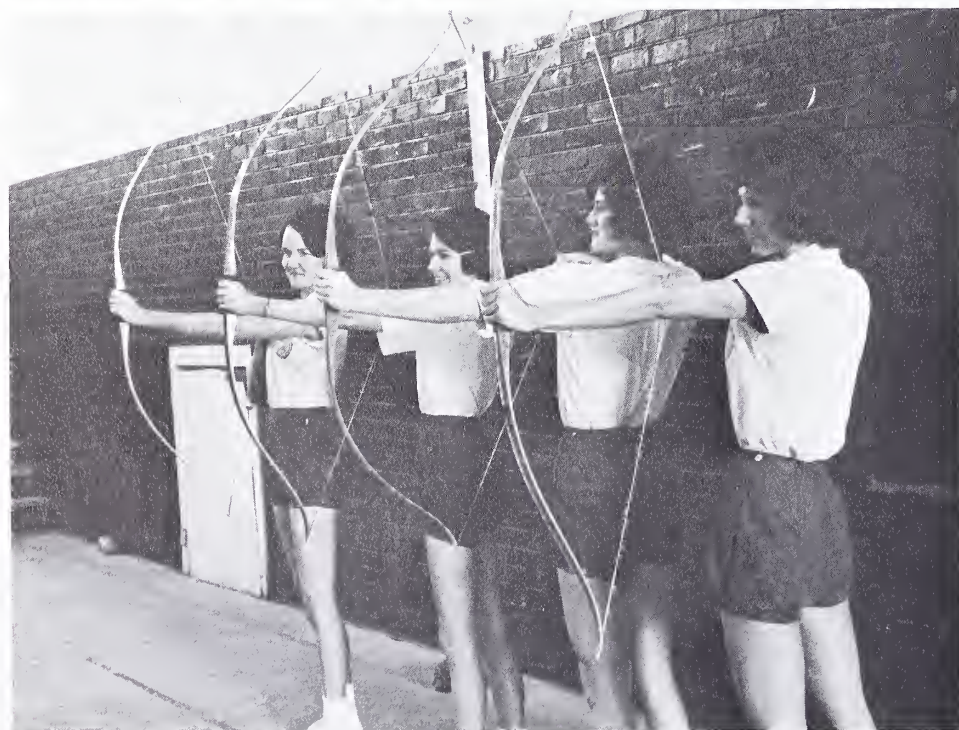

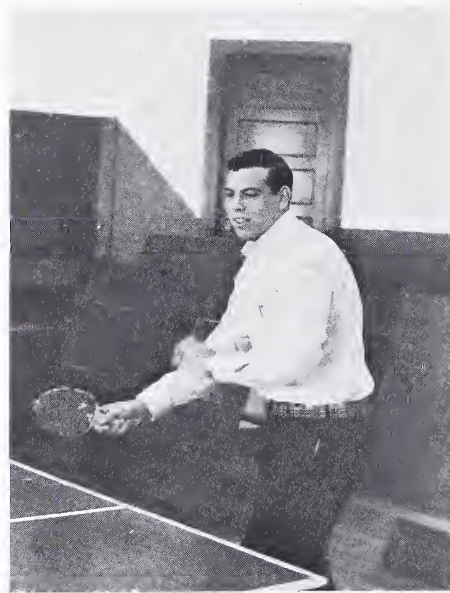

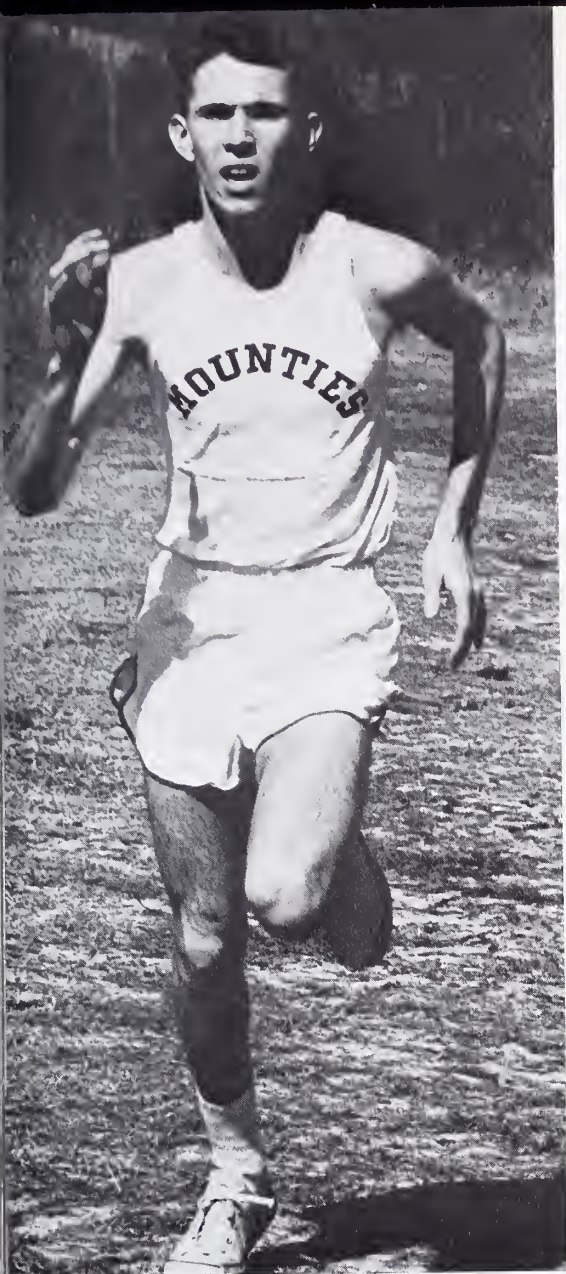

At the end of the regular season, play-offs for the championship started. Teams were matched according to their won-lost record. After two weeks of elimination, the Chinese Bandits were matched against the Saint and the Sinners team. In the final play-off, the Bandits won by a score of 27-21.

Varied Sports

Track

This year, track coach Robert Couch is expecting a very successful season. He is also expecting more participation in the sport than in previous years.

Golf

For the first time, North Greenville is introducing golf as an Inter-Collegiate Sport. The team composed of four boys will compete in golf meets throughout the year. The boys are: Ronnie Teague, Bobby Driver, Toby Henderson and Ronnie Edmonson.

"Miss AURORA 1965"

Charm, talent and beauty, these are three characteristics of Miss Aurora 1965.

On November 20, 1964, eleven lovely girls performed before five judges seeking the title of Miss AURORA. Evelyn Ellis Smith, Miss South Carolina 1963, added much grace to the events of the evening as Mistress of Ceremonies, while the lovely contestants displayed their various talents and beauty.

Anticipation, excitement, and joy filled the air as the girls shared a feeling of accomplishment. All eleven girls were given charms and the runners-up were awarded trophies.

Miss Katherine Smith, Miss AURORA 1964, crowned Miss Diane Page and Mr. Gene Hawkins, director of the pageant, presented her with a trophy.

North Greenville is . . . a look toward tomorrow . . . a growth spiritually, a growth physically as symbolized in the blueprint of a dream today, a reality tomorrow . . . a new student center.

Editing a yearbook is many things. It is challenge; fear, hope, and accomplishment. But most of all it is an experience requiring the cooperation and patience of the student body. For this cooperation, I am indeed grateful.

Special gratitude is due Mrs. Glennie Dill, sponsor, Miss Joada Palmer, proofreader, Mr. Earl McDermott and Mr. Morris Kenig of Keys Printing Company, and Mr. David McDonald and Rawlins-Allen Studio for photography.

The staff is also indebted to the Miss Aurora Contest judges: Miss Jean Padget, Mrs. Jack Rogers, Mr. Wayne Seal, Mr. Lee Kanipe and Mr. James Smith.
